NEW YORK (AP)—Victory over polio should come

That's the hopeful guess, at least, of some persons close to the Salk polio vaccine. There's a general air of confidence that the vaccine works. There has been no hint of anything amiss with it.

Did it protect children from paralytic polio, and how well? Or was it ineffective? Do we start a huge vaccination program to end polio? Or must vaccine research work go back to the laboratory?

Those answers will come in 10 days, when results are announced of last summer's wide tests of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

'PERFECT SCORE' YARN DISCOUNTED

The New York World-Telegram and Sun last week said it had learned from "an unimpeachable medical source" that the April 12 report on, the Salk polio vaccine would say there was not a single case of polio among vaccinated chil-

If it is good, how much vaccine will there be this year? What are your chances of getting it for your children? What will it cost?

Some of these can be answered pretty well right now.

There has been no official tip or leak about the verdict on the vaccine. Officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paraly-is say they don't know it them-

The announcement will be made on the 10th anniversary of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who inspired the national foundation. A fitting date to announce a successful vaccine.

After the annual wage battle is won the 30-hour week will be the next big demand. That is the way Walter Reuther puts it as the CIO-UAW starts negotiations with General Motors and Ford. A strike fund of $25 million is to be built up and nothing will stop the union from getting its demands.

It may mean a long and costly strike unless the corporations give in. That is the program outlined to the auto workers by Reuther at the Cleveland meeting. He said the union was going in for more and more and more because the workers were entitled to more and more and more.

Long Holiday in Sicily Soon

LONDON (#)—Prime Minister Churchill will leave for a va-cation in Sicily April 12, his aides eported Saturday night. All Britain believes it will be his first real taste of retirement and that he will resign the premiership some time this week.

Aides said the 80-year-old premier plans "just to sit in the sun" for his first long rest in months. Churchill is expected to fly to Catania the morning of Tuesday April 12 and then motor to Sirarusa, where he will stay at the Villa Politi in a suite overlooking the sea.

Meanwhile, opinion hardened that the prime minister will step down next week—probably Tuesday.

Current belief is that he will nform Queen Elizabeth II of his intention to resign when she and the Duke of Edinburgh dine at No. 10 Monday night. The next morning he is expected to hand the resignation formally to the queen at Buckingham Palace. His successor is certain to be Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden.

A million members of the CIO-UAW are told a $25 million strike fund is to be raised by increasing their dues. If those workers were out of work due to a strike, that fund would provide $25 for each of them. If they are out of work 100 days it will cost each of them close to $1,500. The Ford strike in Canada, recently settled, lasted 110 4 4

Such a strike of auto workers would reach into every community. It would affect car dealers who could not get cars. In Long Beach it would affect the Ford plant where hundreds of our citizens work. Reuther is endangering millions of jobs by his bombastic tirades. Actually it is a useless tirade as concerns the union. What he has to demand or offer must be settled in negotiations with the companies. He can inform his members through his bulletins of what he is demanding. Why then does he spread fear throughout the country?

It is evidence of his irresponsibility. He has been spreading gloom since before last year's election. It is evident he was wrong then in predicting a depression this year. But if he continues with his threats and calls a strike he will accomplish what he has predicted. It would appear he counts more on frightening the public than on scaring the companies. Whatever his reason he is making himself responsible for a business recession that may be started by people holding up buying those products which keep men at work.

An automobile strike would cut down on production of steel, coal and rubber. It would reach back into thousands of smaller industries supplying parts. The annual wage plan would guarantee workers 52 weeks pay regardless of the need for the workers. The 30-hour week would require a fourth more workers to produce the same number of cars. The additional cost would be charged back to all the people who buy those products.

It is probable some plan for greater protection to workers will be worked out. But it is doubtful that all of Reuther's tirades helps his cause. It does, however, harm public confidence so necessary to a healthy economy. It is probable Reuther harms his negotiation position by his belligerency. He would better serve the workers he represents if he did his loud and hard talking in negotiation meetings rather than in the newspapers and other broadcasts.—L.A.C.

Wind Howls-But Not Quite Strong Enough

By DAVE EMERY

It was a good stiff wind that howled across Long Beach Saturday, but it wasn't good enough or stiff enough 'for Everett Grigg and his homemade helicopter kite.

Grigg, a 46-year-old Naval Shipyard machinist, drew a crowd of more than 200 spectators during his four-hour attempt to pilot the plyboard-and-gaspipe machine into the sky above a field at Clark Ave. and Kildee St.

Tying his helicopter to his parked car with a 30-foot length of manila line. Grigg climbed into the canvas seat of his creation just after lunchtime.

The 20-foot rotor over Grigg's head began to whirl, carving a great hissing are and blurring like the blades of an electric fan. Cars began to stop along the highway 200 yards away. Curious people began coming across the field.

"Where'd you get that darned thing?" screeched an onlooker over the sputtering hiss of the blades.

"Made it myself!" called back
Grigg through vibrating teeth.
Off and on during the afternoon. Grigg's helicopter kite controlled by a piece of pipe at-tached to the rotor—lurched a few inches into the air. Once it tests in Nevada.

Both the AEC and the Defense Department denied as recently as two months ago that anybody had ever been hurt as anybody had ever been hurt as a result of atomic explosions at the Nevada Proving Ground.

But last night the department conceded—after 12 days of prodding by reporters—that at least four military personnel suffered eye damage caused by atomic shots in 1952 and 1953.

A congressional atomic source said this belated disclosure puts both the AEC and the Defense Department in the position of having "lied to the public."

The AEC took the position that in denying any past injuries at the proving ground it was telling what it thought was the truth. It referred all questions about the Defense Department disclosures to that department.

'Look' Article Stirs Bitter Dixie Row

GREENVILLE, Miss. (A)—Pullitzer prize-winning Editor Hodding Carter Saturday told the members of the Mississippi House of Representatives who voted for a resolution condemning him to "go to hell."

Carter called the lawmakers "89 character mobbers."

The lawmakers, taking offense at Carter's recent magazine article on "citizens councils," voted 89-19 in favor of the condemnation resolution.

The resolution said the article in Look magazine was "wholly untrue" and based on the filmsiest kind of evidence.

The article said the citizens councils, designed to keep segregation, contained the seeds of terror—if control falls into the wrong hands.

Lawmakers called him a "scalawag" and other names during a bitter floor fight.

Tides Activity Waits Mallon Case Ruling

Quiet ruled the tidelands oil battlefront as last week passed without an expected decision from the State Supreme Court on the important Mallon case.

As suspense mounted, officials here and at Sacramento waited for word from the Supreme Court that failed to come. Previously, reports emanating from capitol legal circles had indicated the court would try to reach a decision on the Mallon suit by April 1.

The suit, brought by Long Beach taxpayer Felix Mallon challenges the city's right to spend tidelands oil money away from the tidelands themselves. QUESTIONS LAW

QUESTIONS LAW
It questions the constitutionality of a law passed by the Legislature in 1951 which relieved 50 per cent of Long Beach tidelands oil royalties from the earlier restrictions laid down in the state's tidelands grant to this city.

Long Beach won the Mallon case in Superior Court and it was taken up on appeal. Meanwhile, a question was raised in the case as to whether Long Beach actually holds firm title to the tidelands or merely holds them in trust as an agent of the state.

AFFECTS "GRAB" BILL

The possibility that the Supreme Court might rule on that question in the Mallon case gives the forthcoming decision special significance in the Legislature, where Assemblyman Bruce Allen (R-San Jose) has introduced a bill which would give the state bill which would give the state Long Beach's tidelands oil money

Long Beach's tidelands oil money. Allen's bill is predicated on the theory the state actually owns the local tidelands.

Evidently awaiting the Supreme Court decision, neither the legislative counsel nor the attorney general's office at Sacramento has given requested legal opinions on the Allen bill. Long Beach Assemblymen Herbert R. Klocksiem and W. S. Grant said Saturday that discussion of the bill is on "slow bell" pending the Mallon decision, which still could come "any day now."

Army Forces Yemen's King to Abdicate

ADEN (UP) — King Ahmed of Yemen has been swept from the throne of his isolated desert country in a bloodless army coup, Abdullah, brother of Ahmed and his former foreign minister.

(A dispatch from Cairo said Yemen Premier Seifel Islam El Hassan, who is in Cairo, firmed that the coup had taken Abdullah, a well-travelled dip-

open the way to new beauty with Max Factor's great new discovery

SECRET/KEY

WHY? Your skin is dry. You use rich creams faithfully, yet there's no relief from flakiness. Why?

WHY? Your skin is oily. You switch from one treatment to another, yet blackheads and blemishes still persist. Why?

BECAUSE: The answer is the same in either case as Max Factor scientists have now proved. There's a chemical barrier in the skin which keeps creams and lotions "on the outside looking in", as though they were smoothed on glass! This barrier develops when skin lacks correct pH* balance and is either too acid or too alkaline.

WHAT? But now Max Factor has perfected the way to bring about normal acidity-alkaline balance characteristic of young skin . . . Secret Key, a remarkable liquid which prepares your skin for treatment, breaking through the chemical barrier. The Secret Key now actually opens the way for treatment creams and lotions to do their beautifying work! *pH—Patential of Hydrogen, the dermatologist's way of saying it.

Windy City Picks Mayor Next Tuesday

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Chicago voters Tuesday will choose a new mayor after one of the hardest-fought campaigns in many years.

The contestants are Democratic County Clerk Richard J. Daley and Republican Alderman Robert E. Merriam.

The potent Chicago Democratic machine has lost the mayor's chair only twice in the last 67 years, but for once the Republicans scent victory.

Merriam is a personable, 36-year-old crusader for reform and good government who has dredged up a lively charge of "ghost voters" inhabiting the Democratic ranks.

Merriam was a Democrat himself until he switched parties to wangle the GOP nomination however.

The 52-year-old Daley has the assurance of the solid Democratic machine, which demonstrated its muscles in the recent primary

In that election, incumbent Democratic Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, a white-haired symbol of reform government for eight years, was "dumped" by the party bosses in favor of Daley as the official candidate.

H-Bomb Real Cause of Red Chiefs' Split

(The new issue of the Soviet Communist party magazine "Kommunist" contains an important article on nuclear warfare and throws further light on the current position of former Premier Georgi Malenkov. The article is analyzed in the following dispatch by Soviet affairs expert W. A. Ryser.)

By W. A. RYSER

LONDON (U.P.) - The hydrogen bomb emerged Saturday as the real reason for the conflict among the Soviet leaders and for the downfall of former Premier Georgi Malenkov.

The future of the deposed premier looked dimmer than ever as mer looked dimmer than ever as Russian experts here read a violent attack on Malenkov's ideology published in the latest issue of "Kommunist," the theoretical magazine of the Contral Committee of the Communist party

A ten-page, unsigned edi-torial turned the entire au-thority of the party against Malenkov's belief, expressed in a statement last year, that a third world war would bring "destruction of world civilization."

The editorial is the first com-plete, authoritative Communist analysis of the impact of the atomic and hydrogen bombs on Communist doctrine and policy. It declared that "the interests of peace demand a resolute struggle against the thesis of the 'destruction of world civilization."

"However serious the conse quences of an atomic war might be, they cannot be identified with 'destruction of the world civilization.' Such statements are for the imperialists what water is for a mill," the magazine warned.

Kommunist did not mention Malenkov by name. But it made clear that its attack was directed against the supporters of the condemned theory within the Soviet Union.

As far as the Communists are concerned, the fact is that atomic weapons, especially the hydrogen bomb, are something entirely new which no Communist theoretician ever has foreseen. This is why the Kremlin seems to be even more perplexed than the West with the bomb's inhuman power.

If Malenkov's statem t were accepted by the Communists as true, they would have to accept the logical deduction that war is impossible now and would be even "less possible" in a couple of wars.

If that is so, the entire theoretical structure of communism, built by Lenin and Stalin, crumbles. The theory of the ultimate victory of communism in the world is built on the conception of a continuous struggle.
by every means, including war, against the "imperialists."

Malenkov's attempts to modify or reform Communist doctrine and practice have failed and the old Stalinists are trying to maintain intact the Leninist-Stalinist way of thinking and acting in a world which is changing with tremendous speed.

Kefauver's Political Planning and Plotting

IF DEMOCRATIC Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee knows people in the Eisenhower administration who are "plotting and planning" to involve us in war, it would seem he owes it to the country to name these persons and give details of their "plotting and planning."

But if Mr. Kefauver is just playing politics with a touchy foreign policy issue in an attempt to scare the people and discredit the administration at home and abroad, perhaps he ought to return to playing marbles, a game at which he demonstrated his skill in the presence of news cameramen the other day.

Marble playing is a harmless way of getting headlines. But firing a loose, generalized, McCarthy-like blast at officials who are not even named is harmful to the prestige of the Senate. The tenor of his remarks are such as to instil doubt in our allies and to give solace to

And for Mr. Kefauver to try to hang the label "war party" on the GOP is rather incongruous, considering the fact that Democratic administrations presided over the last three wars in which this country was involved.

We doubt that many people will credit Mr. Kefauver's "war party" appellation while it is fresh in their mind that when the present Republican administration went into power, American boys were dying in Korea. While there is general agreement that Truman did the right thing by intervening in Korea, it is a matter of record that the fighting ended during the Republican adminis-

This is not to say that there may not be further fighting. But certainly the administration has demonstrated its desire for peace. If war comes, we prefer to believe it will come because there is no alternative, as in Korea, and not because there is some sinister plan within our own government to precipitate it.

Though Mr. Kefauver now claims forces in the government are trying to get us involved, we recall that he recently lamented the "surrendering" of Indochina.

After the Congress approved a resolution giving the President wide discretionary authority in regard to the defense of Formosa, Sen. Kefauver made a speech in Los Angeles. He said that at one stage of the Formosa defense resolution debate he was "sorely concerned" about its effects. However, he said, when President Eisenhower made a clarifying statement that he alone would exercise the authority, it cleared up many doubts. Said Mr. Kefauver: "We have come out this week further away from war than we began it." Now the mercurial Mr. Kefauver has his doubts again.

He charges that foreign policy is confused. It is a bare possibility that Mr. Kefauver is confused. In any event, his charge that there is "plotting and planning" for war in the administration is the sort of thing that will fit Commie propaganda purposes to a T.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—After playing against a few more of the "contenders" during the past week, it still looks to me like the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants are going to win the penhants in their respective leagues again this season.

The New York Yankees are going to have pitching troubles and furthermore will have only 23 players since they have to carry their two bonus players—Frank Leja and Tommy Carroll. That means cutting down somewhere.

Right now it looks as if they will have to cut down on their pitching since the Yanks need a strong bench of infielders and outfielders to keep up with Casey Stengel's "hunches."

'SUPER TRACK'

New York Bill OK'd

ALBANY (UE) - A "dream rack" for New York City was approved by the legislature Saturday in a proposed $45,000,000 rehabilitation of thoroughbred racing in the state.

Under the so-called jockey club plan, a nonprofit association would be created to handle a flat track renovating program.

Belmont would become a "super - track" capable of handling 100,000 patrons. Sara-toga and Aqueduct or Jamaica would qualify for the program providing their operating associations joined the proposed no-profit group.

marks on the pitching staff, any cutting there is bound to hurt the club. The Brooklyn Dodgers are also round to have some trouble this way shortly.

DONOSO BACK

Bragan's whistling struck a high note Saturday when it was learned that the Twinks will get back 19-game winning southpaw Lino Donoso from the Bucs.

Los Angeles also needs reinforcements from the parent Chicago Cubs. The Angel infield shapes up as one of the best in the league and if manager Bill Sweeney can corrall some more pitching L. A. fans can look for a first division finish.

Hutchinson has practically a new club at Seattle and the Rainiers should perk up considerably from last year's fifthplace finish, 27 games off the pace.

Tommy Heath is still looking for a hard-hitting first baseman it was learned that the Twinks will get this high the learned that the Twinks will get state (Lumm) ... $14.50 \ $1.200 \ 7.00 \ $1.500 \ $1.200 \ 7.00 \ $1.000 \ $

Tommy Heath is still looking for a hard-hitting first baseman and some pitching to bolster his Seals. San Francisco solved its third base problem when the White Sox optioned hard-hitting Joe Kirrene to the bay city.

All the teams will get more belp before the majors cut their squads to the player limit by June 15.

the club is just one of those fair-minded, wonderful persons who has no enemies in the game. Perhaps you remember him, Eddie Leishman? He was quite a good infielder in the Pacific Coast League about the time we kids started. He was time we kids started. He was a shortstop with Seattle and was being groomed for a New York Yankee infield when he was hit on the head by a pitched ball. This accident shortened his career. Eddie now owns most of the club and serves as president and general manager. "When the season progresses a bit I'll let you know if my optimism was well founded. Right now I can't see a bad ball club like I've had on one or two occasions. There's too much tal-ent here for that."

They could easily have been taken as an omen or heavenly sign of some sort.

Now, long trails of white vapor may be seen over the city almost any time, receiving only casual interest from people who happen to look up. Sometimes they are criss-crossed in fantastic, gigantic diagrams.

And I, in turn, inquired at the Long Beach Douglas plant, where an accommodating power Wednesday through Sunday from plant engineer named Dick Duffy gave me the lowdown on vapor or condensation trails. Bro. Duffy is a pretty technical fellow. I hope I correctly translate his explanation, which he began by telling me that these trails are caused by three separate phenomena.

THE most frequent source of vapor trails is the jet engine exhaust. Hydrogen in the engine fuel combines with the oxygen to produce water. Approximately one and one-fourth pounds of water is formed for each pound of fuel used for combustion. For example, a single engine jet aircraft consuming 60 pounds of fuel per minute will exhaust 75 the Ys Men's International, the YMCA service club, will be installing officer. ### Avalon Rites Will Portray SacredDrama

Easter week celebration at Avalon on Catalina Island will be climaxed by the traditional Easter sunrise service on Buena Vista Point, overlooking Avalon Bay and the Pacific.

The service will take place in a rustic setting reministicent of early California. Pageant actors and singers portray the same roles year after year.

Capt. Edgar Harrison, commander of Catalina's glass bottom boats, again will portray the Christus in the pageant of events leading to the Crucifixion and Resurrection. Others in the service are Avalon residents who once a year become actors, singers, stagehands and narrators.

Daily events have been planned throughout the week, including a dance Saturday night in Casino Ballroom with music by Earl Anthony and his orchestra.

Hard of Hearing

According to the Basic Diagnostic office, it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else."

to try anything else."

Once they try this new and proven method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases folks are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple. It consists of three steps and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given and if it is a bone condition, the tympanicoscillations treatment is given.

"I have been wearing a hearing aid for a period of three years, after receiving only three treatments I was able to discard my hearing aid. I highly

Clyde Beatty Circus Here for Two Days

Beautiful girls are as much a part of the circus as elephants, clowns and wild animals, Beatty believes. And of all the lissome lassies, none are more popular than the aerialists—those daring young ladies who risk life and limb high in the air.

The Beatty Circus has over 50 of these charming performers working high in the air, in the the dazzling opening spectacle, "Circus on Parade."

But while beauty, youth and charm are predominant, it is the wild animal display of Clyde Beatty, world's greatest wild animal trainer, that is still the big lure of the two-hour performance. For 1955, Beatty is presenting the largest group of trained lions and tigets in his long career.

Many new foreign acts, novelties and thrillers on the program this seaon. Among these stars of the circus world are the Hannefords, bareback riding act; Zacchini, who is shot from the

'Hunts for Quotations Aren't Like Vacations'

'La da da da da de da de da de, sure you are; la da da da da de It's harder to find the origin of quotations than to answer almost any other kind of question, according to Nora Bell Hacker, head of the literature and history department of the da de da de, sure you are.' That

Perhaps the greatest handicap to identifying quotations, say the librarians, is a lack of indexes. Even with the many indexes which have been compiled, there aren't enough for a complete analysis of the world's literature. Another drawback, they say, is that the quotation is frequently a folk saying which as never been written. Or it may be a song lyerse or a translation from a foreign language. Perhaps the greatest handicap most quotations.

Hacker, head of the literature and history department of the Public Library.

Librarians say it's easier to find out about the quantum theory of color, supersonic waves, corporation laws in Washington, D. C., or stuffing snakes, than to identify a couple of familiar sounding phrases or a scrap of poetry.

NEW LOOK TO STORE

With complete remodeling of the interior finished, Greta's in Belmont Shore held a gala reopening Friday and Saturday which drew throngs. The store is so equipped that every article of women's clothing offered for sale is in view of shoppers. Soft pastel tones and modern lighting make the interior highly attractive.

Goodman Brothers Yarns, Inc., has opened a retail outlet here at 524 Locust Ave. Leota Upton, left, and Beverly Lacono are in charge of the store.

there are many ways to build a house...

ONLY ONE WAY TO BUY ONE!

VETS: read this important message before you buy a home anywhere!

As a home-buying veteran, you're confronted with what physchologists call "the misery of choice." What to do? Who to believe? Claims and counter claims-gimmicks and gadgetspremiums and promises-they're yours for the asking. Just look through this newspaper. We believe most home builders are honest and reputable businessmen-but we do not always subscribe to their sales philosophy. Ours is simply this: We are builders,-and we are businessmen. We build a good product to sell at a fair price. This is the philosophy behind GLEN DELL PARK.

LASTING QUALITY OR SUPERFICIAL 'EXTRAS?'

When we planned GLEN DELL PARK, we were faced with two major choices: Build a house using "second-best" materials and short-cut methods, and apply the savings on "window dressing" and "advertising gimmicks."

OR, build for quality and lasting value, using only the finest materials and proven methods approved and recommended by recognized authorities in the construction industry. We chose the latter. We believe you want a home that's built "the way they used to build 'em', and that you prefer to buy and select your own "window dressing" at a later date, כח your own terms. You'll find this philosophy at GLEN DELL PARK, and at every D. & E. Community Devel-

CUT CORNERS OR CUT PROFITS?

We could have cut a lot of corners in GLEN DELL PARK. We could have built your home on a concrete slab. We didn't. Many good homes are built on concrete slabs. But we believe that better homes are built off-the-ground, with genuine solid oak hardwood floors on a raised sub-flooring a full 18-inches from the ground.

We could have used dry wall for walls and ceilings. Many builders do. But we are convinced that to add lasting quality to your home, there is no substitute for thick, durable, genuine lath and plaster construction.

GLEN DELL PARK homes are not "just as good" -but the best we can build for the money. That is why we are proud to invite your comparison.

FEATURES THAT REALLY COUNT

GLEN DELL PARK offers you a wide choice of attractive, all-different exterior elevations, in an excellent range of carefully arranged floor plans, including the popular central hall plan. Each home has three large bedrooms, or two bedrooms and den, two convenient bathrooms, spacious two-car garage with built-in storage rack. Our homes have sliding glass doors or sparkling walls of glass opening on to a spacious covered terrace and tree-shaded lot.

We know most homemakers want a separate service porch so that major appliances won't be an eyesore in the kitchen. That's just what you, get at GLEN DELL PARK. And we've made a special effort to make our "Happiness Kitchens" as practical and as beautiful as possible, because that's where the lady of the house spends so much of her time.

We've included such practical conveniences as the "Convertable," a combination dining nook, breakfast bar, buffet and desk all in onea copperized hood over the range area with a built-in electric exhaust fan-deep double kitchen sinks protected and beautified with genuine ceramic tile-Waste King Garbage Pulverators-rich, natural finish wood kitchen cabinets -Armstrong inlaid linoleum-65,000 BTU dual heating system-40-gallon water heaters-the list is long and impressive—especially for homes in this price range.

WHAT CAN YOU AFFORD?

GLEN DELL PARK homes are priced from $11,595. Regardless of what you expect to pay, we urge you to compare these homes with others. If you' are a veteran earning as little as $86.00 a week (gross income, not take-home pay), or $373 a month gross, you are eligible to qualify. And it doesn't require a cent to buy, either-because we are one of the few, more fortunate builders to have negotiated "No Cash Down" loans for our veteran buyers. That's right-no cash to MOVE IN-and monthly payments are as low as $60.25 month, principal and interest.

JUST ONE 'GIMMICK'-BUT A GOOD ONE

The one "extra" we like to boast about is our Mortgage Payment Insurance Protection Plan -an insurance policy given to every GLEN DELL PARK family at NO ADDED COST. We honestly believe this Protection Plan is worth far more to your family than any other single feature. One of the Pioneer Land Co. salesmen will be happy to explain this wonderful protection plan

Well, that's our story. We're proud of GLEN DELL PARK, and invite you to look at us critically and comparatively. Come out and see the three model homes, beautifully furnished by Aaron Schultz of Long Beach and Anaheim, open daily and Sunday from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M.

No other low-priced car even comes close ## to matching these important Chevrolet advantages . . .

if you're planning to buy a new car, the one you just can't afford to miss seeing is Chevrolet — for 19 straight years America's bestselling car. The Motoramic Chevrolet offers you so much more than the other low-priced cars that it's hardly fair to compare them. And even the high-priced cars don't have all the advantages that today's Chevrolet offers you.

The beauty's built in—not bolted on!

And that makes a big difference-not only in how your car looks today, but in how it will look tomorrow, too. Chevrolet's good looks spring from fine, clean, uncluttered design. The beauty is inherent in the basic contours of metal and glass. There's no excessive bolted-on ornamentation to go out of style overnight.

The Body's by Fisher!

but many of the high-priced cars do. That fact silky, peppery Powerglide (even better this year!), alone tells you there must be something extra special about the style, quality and construction of Body by Fisher. And there is! You can see it, feel it and even hear it when you slam the door.

Today's most modern engines!

That goes for Chevrolet's new V8 and two new sixes as well. For example, all Chevrolet engines bring you a modern 12-volt electrical system double the voltage of other low-priced cars. This means quicker cold weather starting and a greater electrical reserve. Then Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry, and develops the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-price field. It takes valve-inhead leadership like Chevrolet's to bring you engines like these!

A drive to suit your driving!

You can take your choice of three different drives-No other low-priced car has a Body by Fisher— and every one's as modern as this minute. There's new Overdrive (both extra-cost options), and a new Synchro-Mesh transmission that's as smooth as they come.

All the power helpers you want!

Windows, seat, steering, brakes-all are available with built-in "muscles" to make driving as effortless as you wish. And you can even have air conditioning in your new Chevrolet. These things are extra-cost options, of course, but they more than repay you with extra pleasure.

Fun is "standard equipment"!

You find that out the first time you take the wheel of a new Chevrolet. Here, you discover, is a car that takes the curves like it's on rails, that steers like it's reading your mind. It seems simply to ignore bumps-and when you stop suddenly, there's no excessive lurching or diving, either. There has never been such a difference in low-priced cars as there is today-or so many good reasons why you should drive a new Chevrolet. Come in and take the key the first chance you get.

CHEVROLET SALES LEADERSHIP IS A VICTORY IN VALUE FOR YOU!

Isn't it logical that, since Chevrolet leads in sales year after year, Chevrolet must put moré into a car than its competitors-more quality . . . more craftsmanship . . . more style ... more things to make your driving easier and safer and more fun. You have to do that to be the leader and stay the leader like Chevrolet! Because Chevrolet builds the most cars and can build them better to sell for less-Chevrolet sales leadership is a victory in value for you!

Year's Top Parlay: St. Mary's Guild-Philanthropy

LOOKING OVER THE EXPANSE of track at Los Alamitos Race Course, where "A Day at the Races" will be staged April 22 as a benefit for St. Mary's Hospital Guild, are Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Davis, above left, and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Prisk. Mrs. Davis is serving as president of the newly formed Guild. This is the first fund-raising event to be scheduled by the 55 charter members, all of whom are prominent Long Beach women in social and civic work. Since it will be their future policy to present only one such public appeal each year, much preparation has gone into making this an outstanding and novel event. Racing will be from 1:30 to 6 p. m. with a Stub Club party in the Turf Club from 6 to 8 p. m.

Frende W. Combs, Guild members, are discussing the program with Vessels. Mrs. Combs and Mrs. Herbert E. Waite are co-chairmen of ways and means' committee. They are being assisted by Mmes. Victor Mingers, John F. Craig II, James Lantz Jr. and Walter Greenwood. (Story on Page W-2.)

Bescos, John Clarke, James Lantz Jr. and Mr. John Clarke in the colorful dining room of the clubhouse. At right are Mrs. Joseph E. Madden, Mrs. Harry Buffum and Joseph E. Madden seated in a box overlooking the track. The Maddens will have as their special guest at the event Miss Maureen O'Sullivan, stage and screen star. Many other distinguished Southland leaders will gather at Los Alamitos Race Course at 1:30 p. m. April 22 to watch the quarter horse races and then attend the Stub Clab party in the Turf Club. The public is invited to share in this gala benefit; proceeds to be used for equipment and services to St. Mary's Hospital. Tickets are available from any Guild member, at Humphrey's Music Store or at the Independent, Press-Telegram.

'Day at Races,' Stub Party, Novel Idea for Guild Benefit

By MARY LOU ZEHMS Press-Telegram's Women's Editor

Sleek, curried quarter horses, finest on the west coast, will vie in attention with stunningly gowned Southland society and clubwomen and their equally at-Southiand society and clubwomen and their equally attractive mates during the first benefit event by St. Mary's Hospital Guild, April 22, at Los Alamitos Race Course. "A Day at the Races" is the novel idea to be used by the Guild as its first major fund raising project. Post time is at 1:30 p. m. and Frank Vessels, owner of the course, who is turning over all proceeds to the Guild, promises an interesting day. Guild, promises an interesting day.

ect. Post time is at 1:30 p. m. and Frank Vessels, GWI-er of the course, who is turning over all proceeds to the Gulld, promises an interesting day.

Since it is the policy of the group to present only one such public appeal each year, much preparation has gone into making this an outstanding event. Elaborate plans for the day, which will include a Turf Club party following the races, have been worked out under the direction of Mrs. Frende W. Combs and Mrs. Herbert E. Waite, co-chairmen of ways and means. They have been assisted by Mmes. Victor Mingers, John F. Craig II, James Lantz Jr. and Walter Greenwood.

Mrs. Donnell Davis is St. Mary's Hospital Guild president. Purpose of the Guild is to interpret hospital needs to the community, to give volunteer services to the hospital and its patients and to provide equipment as the need arises. Due to the swift advancement of modern medicine there is a continuing demand for improved facilities.

At the present time there are several publics under consideration all of which will greatly add to the comfort of the patients and increase the service of the hospital to the community. These include additional equipment in the physiotherapy and X-ray departments and in the nursery and recovery rooms. Your presence is needed at "A Day at the Races" to help the Guild in its worthy cause.

As a personal service to the patients, their families, the doctors and nurses, a volunteer group of Guild members circulate a coffee cart five days a week. This is stocked with coffee, chocolate, sandwiches, doughnuts (available to the patients with their doctors consent) magazines, stationery and drug sundries. This service already has become indispensable to families awaiting patients in surgery and in the delivery rooms.

Great enthusiasm is centering on the festive "Sub Club Party" which will follow the races from 6 to 8 p. m. This idea originated with the Louisville, Ky., Symphony Association when there is a get-together of theatergoers after each concert, the only admission necessary be

Havekorst Home Scene of Lovely Phi Beta Tea

A tea for Phi Beta members and their guests was given last Sunday with Mrs. L. B. Copeland as hostess in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Havekorst, 790 Terraine Ave.

Gilded magnolia leaves and violet and gold carnations graced the home for the occasion. The Greek letters for Phi Beta centered the tea table. And each guest received distinctive hand painted name cards by artist member, Lucille Brown Greene, which depicted the music and speech activities of the sorority.

Valerie Silver, Pi Omega alumnae chapter president, welcomed honored guests, Miss Janice Moudry, concert singer Janice Moudry, contert and member, Mrs. Paul Sutro, province president; Mmes. Charles Hughes, Earle Vaughan of Los Angeles, national advisers; Willa Jean Maylen, visers; Willa Jean Meylen, Diana Dahl, Alice Felkner, Ar-lire Yater, Violet Coulter, Su-sah Croxton, Joan Lee, Gwen Hilton, Patricla Pettefer, Jo-anne Pagones, Sheila O'Brien, Andrea Brown, Laura C, Plem-ling of Long Beach

Pamphlet Urges Parents to Keep Active in P-T.A.

Stand by your teen-agers when they enter high school, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers urges parents in a new pamphlet, "Don't Be a Dropout Parent," just issued for nation-wide distribution to the nearly 9,000,000 members in 39,000 individual P-T.A. units across the country.

Appealing to parents to "graduate into the high school P-T-A." when the child goes on to his new school, the pamphlet atresses that mothers and fathers should "become partners with the teen-agers... in their new educational enterprise."

with the teen-agers . . in their new educational enterprise."

Mothers and fathers must remain active in parent-teacher work beyond the elementary school grades, according to the pamphlet, for the sake of both the teen-agers and the schools. "Your teen-ager still needs encouragement, guidance, and understanding," the pamphlet reminds parents, while "high school administrators and teachers need your expressed interest and friendly co-operation."

"Now is the time when the teen-ager explores new interests, tests his capacities, and learns to know himself," the namphlet continues.

Everybody's Got a Laughin' Place!'

By IOLA MASTERSON

Everybody, according to old Uncle Remus, has got a "laughin' place"! Naturally, you just don't bust out giggling every time but there are "smiley places" somewhere all the time. It's our business to ferret out the town's laughin' and smilin' places and set them down town's laughin' and smilin' places and set them down In print each week so here we go with a happy bunch in print each week so here we go with a nappy dunch of notes.

There were a number of "laughin' places" for right around 300 Rotariannes this week when the District Conference took place in Long Beach. While the Rotarians were busy with meetings, men-talk and cigars, the women were being delightfully entertained by the feminine committee for which Marnette (Mrs. Lon) Peek was general chairman.

Thursday the visiting women were taken on a home tour to see the manses of Beverly and Dick Matlock and LaVere and Lloyd Whaley in Perk Estates. After seeing the two lovely homes they "toured ori" to Freda and Hugh Prichard's for tea. On Friday they were entertained at a very glamorous style show and luncheon at the Pacific Coast Club provided by Buffums' and commentated by John Hersey.

And the models were terrific—Long Beach and Lakewood Rotariannes, every one! Those who showed another facet to their many abilities were Mary (Mrs. Jack) Merrick, and her daughter Marjorie, Julia (Mrs. Robert) Heims, Lynda (Mrs. Robert) Irvin, Vi (Mrs. William) Dovey, Bess (Mrs. Darrell) Neighbors, Olga (Mrs. Don) Bowers, Barbara (Mrs. Darrell) Neighbors, Olga (Mrs. Don) Bowers, Barbara (Mrs. Norman) Hart, Iris (Mrs. Rustan) Hicks, Margaret (Mrs. Norman) Meager, Lynn (Mrs. Don) Nelson, Audrey Jean (Mrs. Arnold) Romeyn, Sally (the Admiral's wife) Smoot and Janice (Mrs. Phil) Humphreys.

Romeyn, Sally (the Admiral's wife) Smoot and Janke (Mrs. Phil) Humphreys.

The party's fresh and pretty decorations were planned by Lucille (Mrs. Gus) Lueking.

Most honored guest at all the functions was Mrs. Benney Hughes, a gracious and charming lady whose husband is the third vice president of Rotary International, present at this conference to represent Herbert J. Taylor, head of the whole shebang! Or, if you want it near and formal, president of Rotary International.

Don't go way because Long Beach was responsible for two Very lovely "first ladies," also. Freda Prichard, of course, wife of president Hugh, and Marian Locke, "first lady" of the district whose husband, Don, has served most ably throughout this year as governor.

On April 15 in Las Vegas Mrs. Kelly Williams will repeat some familiar vows to become—Mrs. Kelly Williams! It's a lovely fact. Beth and Kelly found out that "Thanks for the Memory" may be a pretty tune but was never intended to be their theme song even though they hummed it for three years! Barbara and Bob Simpson will accompany the about to be "old" newlyweds to their wedding site. And so the Williams' have a new theme. Could it be "Unforgettable"?

It will be swim before breakfast, wait five minutes, swim again—and again—and again until sheer weariness calls a halt at Virginia and Ralph Murray's 510 Havana Ave, home today. Their shiny new pool (heated, et al) is being used for the first time this weekend and we'll bet our bottom sand dab the Murrays are acting like porpoises who have found their own private source of seaweed joy juice!

"Perfectly lovely" may be a hackneyed phrase but it describes to the "nth" degree the party Mrs. L. A. Hancock gave for her sweet-as-daisies new daughter-in-Taw, Jo (Southgate) Hancock, who became Jim's bride mid-March. The party was a luncheon Friday at the Hancock home, 327 Bay Shore Ave. and, with Dorothy Southgate assisting. Jo was greeted by a heaming number of friends of the families.

Now, Jim doesn't know too much about this pretty affair but he'll hear all about it directly from Joe in person in early May when she will meet him in Germany where he is Army stationed at Neckarsulm (a dainty sneeze and you've said it!) Jo will sail late in April aboard the S. S. United States from New York and will remain with Jim for the year he spends overseas. Uncle Sam took Jim by the hand five days after his wedding and said, "Let's go see what the Army is doing in Germany, son."

evening when a gang of party-producing Eachelor Club members utilized the fun of the occasion as theme for a costume party. About 30 felias and their dates met for the evening festivities at the 143 Bay Shore Dr. home of Chuck McCollough, Ken Knox, and Mark Moody. There was a punch bowl, full of tantalizing liquid, which kept going dry and mysteriously refilling again, plus games and hilarity galore.

Didn't look like sleeping animals to us. Nope. Those bull-dozers were wide awake as they rumbled and bumbled around in the back yard at Ruth and Harrison Moore's home early this week. Diggin' the modern version of an old swimmin' hole, that's what they were doing. The cementing followed and first thing you know there'll be splashing and laughing at 620 Los Altos. 620 Los Altos.

A group of women who served on the Panhellenic board a few years ago discovered their enjoyment in seeing each other was of such proportions they were loath to stop at the end of their terms. So—the logical thing to do happened. They have get-togethers every once in awhile on their own and one occurred last weekend. Husbands were included and a party was on at the Park Estates home of Helen and Henry Viets on Ramilko Dr. Buffet dinner started the evening off to a happy start for Lou and Ed Lovell, Thelma and Newman Stewart, Virginia and Ray Astle, Ruby and Sterling Fisher, Roberta and Bob Galloway, Sarah Lee and Bob Clingan, Marian and Glen Miller, Lucille and Ralph Cummings, Elva and "Duke" De Lyre, Maureen and Allen Paul and Mary Lee and Ralph Hand.

Sighs of delight and "oh's' of wonder filled the balmy air Wednesday morning around Virginia Country Club when Helen Buren, "Bunchie" Bell, Winifred Smith and Bonnie Montgomery entertained for nearly 150 women at a pre-Easter breakfast. We knew there was something special about it last week, remember? But listen to just what.

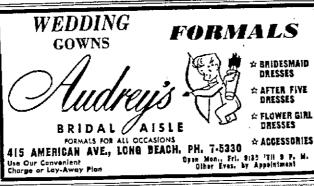

Each table was centered by a fresh flower hat (real posies cleverly attached to full size buckram frames—and really wearable!) These were displayed atop dainty golden stands. Easter egg colors were used at all the tables, with table cloths of gauze in luscious shades. Three satin ribbons, each six inches wide, and in complimenting shades paved a gleaming highway down the table centers and places were marked with hand painted cards.

In the lobby of the club a fascinating Easter egg tree stood, all covered with the shiniest of sequinned eggs. There, too, were handsome hatboxes spilling their fragrant loads of mountain illac and jonquils.

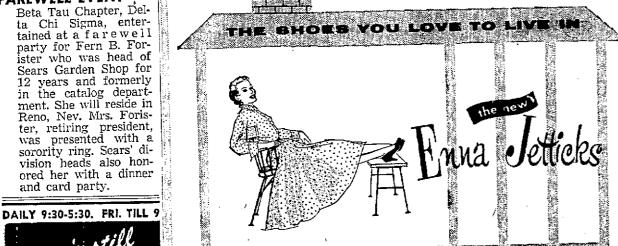

Only shadow on the day was the absence of hostess Bonnie Montgomery who was ill and unable to be present. Missed as she was by her friends, they were delighted to hear that she is much improved.

(A) Certainly; but what good is a composition so illegibly written that no one can read it correctly?

If a child writes well he may take pride in composing and displaying written words. Cultivate this skill. Praise even the simplest stories; do not severely criticize. Enthusiasm and efforts need parental stimulation. Encouragement is essential for success.

take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but now, right now, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why ...

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact, these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful

Attitude Important to Dieting

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have often written in this column that next to calorie counting a woman's most important ally in her reducing effort is her mental attitude. Of course, no matter what your outlook, if you do not count calories you will not lose pounds. However, if you subconsciously know that you are go-ing to cheat a little here and there you are doomed to failure. You have to be really de-termined before you begin dieting. Like the alcoholic who must REALLY want help be-fore he can be helped, the overweight woman must really want to reduce before she can make a success of it.

A letter from a reader gives some psychologically sound suggestions for making reducing, easy. She worked these out for herself.

She says, "Since dieting can he'a rather discouraging process." I make it pleasant by do

Chef of the Week Howard Jones Dons Cap to 'Sell' Enchiladas.

By MILDRED K. FLANARY Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Chef of the week Howard Jones gives every evidence that the Blarney Stone can be found in Columbus, Ohio—that's where he was born. Manager of the Long Beach Convention and Visitors Bureau, he's a natural for his job. He can converse with agility—handle the written word with aplomb, and make Demosthenese look like a piker as a speaker. He can doodle, too, with amazingly artistic results.

His early ambition was to be a lawyer, having actually spent three years studying law at night while attending Paeific Coast University Law School. He later became interested in the field of public relations and administration, however, and has never devi-

Commerce. In August of '54, he was appointed to his present position and is constantly "selling Long Beach" to the state and the nation as America's finest spot for conventions, conferences, sales meetings, etc. His interest in people, his unlimited enest in people, his unlimited en-thusiasm and extreme opti-mism, coupled with his unus-ual knack as a delegator of work, serves him and our city well. Being able to determ-mine all ramifications of a problem and quickly analyzing them and the other person's point stand the other person's point of view has paid dividends on many an occasion. A wonderful listener, his buddies at the "Chamber" have dubbed him

Light Lead Needed Here Just look at the bidding of today's hand, but don't look at any of the hands. See if you can pick out the right kind of opening lead from almost any sort of West hand. When the hand was actually played, West opened the king of diamonds. When he saw the dummy, West switched to a trump.

The switch came too late. South won in his own hand, ruffed a diamond in the dummy, got back to his band by ruffing a club, and ruffed another diamond with dummy's last trump. He then took the ace of hearts, drew West's remaining trumps, and gave up a heart trick.

It no longer mattered what the defenders did. They could return a diamond or club to return a diamond or club to make declarer trump, but he could give up another heart and make the last two tricks with his last trump and a good heart. South lost only two hearts and a diamond, making his grame contract.

Now let's go back to our original idea of picking the opening lead from the sight of the bidding alone. When both sides bid very strongly, a trump lead is likely to be good. The chances are that part of the declarer's strength is dis-tributional, and that the de-fenders will do well to limit dummy's ruffing power.

Program of DAR Americanization School Outlined

In Club Circles

By RUTH REECE Press-Telegram Club Editor

"He shall feed His flock

like a shepherd. The singer of Handel's "Messiah" was Mrs. Kiyo-ka Kumashiro of Tokyo, Japan, and her audience was comprised of members of the District of Co-lumbia Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Tears were in many eyes as they listened to the little Japanese woman demonstrate what she had learned in the Americanization School which was founded in 1913 by the DAR. Mrs. Kumashiro was one of 1465 students at the Americanization School in Washington, D. C., where 79 different nationalities attend classes to prepare for citizenship or merely to learn basic English and the customs of the land in which they are staying.

So continuous is DAR interest in naturalization work that the national DAR society has just appropriated the sum of $2,000, the interest on which is to be used for the aid of the foreign born attending the school. The money will be used for such purposes as school materials and tuition for those unable to nay the fee unable to pay the fee.
One of the two texts used in the Americanization School is the DAR Manual for Citizen-ship, a 110-page booklet con-sidered to be one of the finest compilations of American doccompliations of American doc-trines available. It is published in four languages, English, French, German, and Spanish. DAR members are proud of the fact that the graduates of their school are able to re-spond to their citizenship oaths in the tongue of their adopted Ind.

Throughout the United States, DAR members have been shocked to note that many candidates for citizenship, the greatest blessing America has to bestow, are specified to take the each of permitted to take the oath of citizenship through an interpreter.

Even before the Americanization School was started in a crowded little Washington alley, the DAR members were going into the homes of the foreign born to help them with their lessons and to prepare them for American citizenship. The hours of service these women gave mark them as among the thousands of unsung DAR heroines.
The Americanization School will present a special program at the DAR Continental Congress which opens April 18-22 in Washington, D. C., and at an open house and tea at the school residents of Washington will have an opportunity to view work of the school.

Democratic Club

Dr. Frank Sullivan, professor of English at Loyola Uni-versity, will be the speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Democratic Women's Study Club at noon Wednesday in the Pageant Room of the Wil-ton Hotel, Mrs. Walter C. Williams will preside, and Mrs. Zita Remley, first vice presi-dent, will introduce the speaker,

The occasion is an important one, as it will mark the annual reciprocity when members of the Presidents Club will be honor guests. Dr. Sullivan, who has just returned from a year's study at Oxford, England, for the Ford Foundation, is a for-mer president of the ADA (American Democracy Association). His topic will be "The Bill of Rights."

Luncheon reservations are to be made with Mmes. Ama Sykes or E. B. Rinearson not later than Tuesday. At the morning session starting at 10 a. m., reports of committees will be made. Mrs. Mary Rene will have charge of the legislation period, Mrs. Eva Moise will give current events, and Mrs. Rinearson who will be in charge of the study hour, will discuss Formosa.

NLB Women's Club

An Easter playlet, "Still Waters," will be presented for members and guests of North Long Beach Women's Club at the club's Easter program Wednesday in Houghton Park clubhouse. A potluck salad luncheon will be served at noon, and the business session to follow will be conducted by Mrs. Ralph Gott, president, when a nominating committee will be elected.

Mrs. Ruel Hird, program Mrs. Ruel Hird, program chairman, has arranged the afternoon's entertainment which, in addition to the play, will include music by the Choralettes, with Mrs. George Hughes, director, and Mrs. Carl Dole, accompanist. A number of federation officers plan to be present.

Until today you might as well have been putting your expensive creams on glass!

MAX FACTOR'S new discovery, the SECRET KEY. throws open the barrier in your skin that's been holding back your creams and lotions!

For several years, we at Max Factor have been searching for the answers to certain questions:

"Why do women with dry skin oblems never seem to get the help they long for, even from the rect acidity-alkalinity balance, Secret Key opens most expensive creams?"

"Why do so many women keep switching from one 'oily skin' treatment preparation to another?"

"Why do blackheads and blemishes still persist-even when a woman follows the strictest corrective beauty routine?"

We spent thousands of hours in the Max Factor Laboratories nature searching for the answers to these puzzling questions. This search uncovered a startling fact: there is a chemical barrier in the skin that keeps creams and lotions from getting in and going to work. This barrier develops because the skin does not have correct pH* balance (It is either too acid or too alkaline). No wonder women were creaming their skins faithfully night after night, peering into their mirrors hopefully day after day—and finding disappointment. For few women have that proper skin balance.

We unlock one of Nature's closelyguarded secrets! A way had to be discovered to break through this stubborn barrier, so that creams and lotions could bring relief to the parched or oil-clogged skin cells underneath. A way had to be found to return a woman's skin to its proper pH* balance. I can now reveal that our scientists have found a way to do this successfully - through the use of a remarkable liquid preparation we call the Secret Key.

The Secret Key returns the skin to the acidity-alkalinity balance characteristic of a young, healthy skin. It brings back a natural freshness and radiance that you cannot oH – Potential of Hydrogen, dermatologist's way of saying it

Laboratory tests have proved that the use of Secret Key before these new corrective creams and lotions made them completely effective, because there was no longer a barrier abnormal chemical composition through which they had to fight. ## All Marriages Are Risks

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

For the past year and a half I have been going with a fine young man who is 35 years old. I am 40 but look younger. In fact, people say I don't look a bit older than he does.

The problem is that he wants to marry me. He says we have been going with each other long enough to know our own minds. He says that if I won't marry him he will pack won't marry him he will pack up and leave town for good.

Now, Mrs. Mayfield, I feel that he is vastly superior to me and I'm afraid I wouldn't make the grade as his wife. For one thing, he is proud and wants me to look my best at all time just as he does. But all times, just as he does. But I'm prone to be rather slipshod and careless of my ap-pearance.

Another thing, he is very ambitious and holds down two jobs. I'd rather he would give up one and be with me more. So you see, compared to him,

So you see, compared to film, I'm not ambitious.

I have lived alone for 10 years and the truth is I'm lone-some. I dread the idea of his leaving town. On the other hand, I can't help wondering when you consider the difference in our ages and our attience in our ages and our atti-tudes, whether a marriage between us would work.

Moral Teachings Sometimes Have Tendency to Backfire

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case N-390: Martha G., aged 4, is a great enthusiast for attending Sunday school. "But Grandma," she protested recently, "I can't go to Sunday school unless I have some chewing gum.

chewing gum."

The grandmother tried to find Martha a stick of gum but, finding none available, told the child that she could get along O.K. without it. "No, I can't," Martha replied miserably and was almost in tears. "I just have to have some gum

"I just have to have some gum to take to Sunday school." When her grandmother asked When her grandmother asked why she felt such an urgent need for gum. Martha replied: "Our teacher passes around a paper cup and everybody is supposed to spit his gum into the cup. And now I will not have any gum to put in the cup!" and she began to cry. There is no serious harm in the cup gum to gum. In fact, gum of the cup gum. In fact, gum of the cup gum. In fact, gum of the cup gum. In fact, gum of the cup.

chewing gum. In fact, gum offers tense youngsters an excellent chance to drain off sur-plus energy via chewing. And many Sunday school teachers furnish each youngster a free stick of gum as a reward for attendance each Sabbath, which is a good plan to follow with all youngsters in Sunday school.

But Martha has simply absorbed the wrong attitude about the gum. Her teacher's emphasis has backfired. For Martha deems gum an essen-tial admission ticket to Sunday school. So she feels crestfallen and ostracized at being unable to spit her wad of gum into the paper cup each Sunday the paper cup each Sunday morning.

Since children like to "keep up with the Joneses." Martha is very eager to be socially accepted, and she imagines that she will now be disliked because she can't enter Sunday these with the state of the social state. school with a wad of gum in her mouth. One reason why applied psychologists are urg-ing consumer polls on business firms, as well as on clergymen and school teachers, is to un-cover some of these erroneous views of the customer, parish-ioner or student. Many things fail to "go across" to the pub-lic exactly as the manufacturer or even the clergyman anticipates. So it is very helpful to let the public rate our merchandise or our oratory, etc.

In this connection, you may be familiar with the high school chemistry teacher's example wherein he tried to show teen-agers the poisonous effect of alcohol. As a clincher argument he took a glass of alcohol and then had one of the students drop a couple of wriggling fishworms into the

As soon as they touched the alcohol, they stopped squirming and fell to the bottom of the glass, dead as doornals. "Now what does this teach us a bout alcohol?" confidently asked the teacher. Johnny put up his hand, so the teacher called on him to reply. "Well, sir," said Johnny. "It teaches us that if we drink whiskey, we won't have worms."

So the surprised teacher found that his moral lesson had backfired, just as Martha's apprehension over failure to have a wad of gum, showed she had absorbed the wrong emphasis at Sunday School.

Many college teachers accidentally omit a vital word or sentence from their lecture, and the class is then confused, though the teacher doesn't realize his omission. As a re-sult, he blames the class for being stupid.

So send for the modern "Test for a Good Teacher," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

It is an excellent yardstick for both Sunday School teachers as well as those in the public schools and colleges.

Acceptance of Authority Is Step Toward Maturity

The healthy adolescent boy and girl are urged by their very nature to free themselves from parental authority, from all authority but their own will. They think that if they could go and come as they please, drive a car, forget about lessons, have a right good time (which means no interference from anybody)—life would be one long sweet song.

Well, boys and girls, it would not be anything of the sort. In every public school in the land there is a child, or maybé more, who is free of parental authority and who defies any other. A good look at them will disclose that they are far from happy. They are the misfits, the unfortunates who have no real home, no family life, no protecting af-fection and care. Free of au-thority they are bound in ig-norance norance.

Freedom means personal Freedom means personal responsibility. How does a young person achieve it? By carrying responsibility. There is no other way. But you will be bound again? Of course. Everybody worth his salt is bound by his conscience, directed by it, disciplined by it. The young person whose word is his bond is soon, recognized as a person of responsibility and is granted a degree of freedom. The one who has taken his driving course in high school and is known to drive carefully with respect to the lives of others as well as drive carefully with respect to the lives of others as well as his own is soon driving a car as a matter of course. He is still bound by the rules of right behavior with this dif-ference: His is the directing will. Nobody has to stand at his elbow and say, "Do this and not that." He is a free person in the true meaning of person in the true meaning of standards of the day and exercising personal discipline in obedience to them is freedom, There is no other kind. For example: Eat too much and you will be sick; neglect your sleep and you will be dull in mind and spirit; be unfriendly and you will be friendless. Freedom that creates happi-ness and well being has to be earned by self-sacrifice and self-discipline. One can be free only under his own will power, only by personal choice to ac-cept the acceptable way. "When I was a child I spoke as a child and when I was a as a cond and when I was a man I spoke as a man and put away childish things," is the idea. A spoiled child wants his way to defiance of wisdom. A mature person bends to the law of righteousness wherein wisdom. He is good by choice. He becomes a man.

'We Take a Vote'

This New Jersey family puts into practice its belief that democracy begins at home

by DOROTHY SHENSA MILLER

THE MILLERS listen intently as 10-year-old Craig makes a point in family meeting.

MAPLEWOOD, N. J.

We waited anxiously for our 8-year-old son Matthew to return home from his first day in the third grade. We wondered if he would continue to be as indifferent to school work as he'd been during his first two years.

To our surprise, he was exuberant. "Guess what!" he exclaimed excitedly. "Our teacher said we can talk to each other during class!" He went on to explain that she seemed to respect the children's opinions even when she disagreed with them, and wound up with, "Why, she even let us yote on what subjects we'd take up first!"

My husband, Bertram, and I looked at each other, the same thought in both our minds. If being given a voice in his studies and a personal responsibility for his conduct could make such an impression on the boy, maybe we should try something along the same lines at home.

That was six years ago. Ever since then, the Miller family has been embarked on an adventure in home democracy.

Once a week, on Friday nights, we foregather in the living room for a family forum — Matthew, now 14; Craig, 10; Carolyn, 6; Bertram and I. We discuss the past week and the one ahead, in terms of our individual responsibilities and conduct.

Such household chores as helping with the dishes, clearing off the dinner table, taking out the garbage, cleaning the cellar, sweeping the front porch and walking the dog are divided up by mutual consent.

When we go into the previous week's activities, anyone who feels that a project he volunteered for has proved too heavy is free to say so. A good case in point was the day Matthew complained that mowing our rather expansive back yard alone was too much. After considerable pro-and-con discussion, it was decided that he would cut as much grass as he felt able to, and that later Bertram or Craig would finish the job.

Dishes vs. Garbage

Such adjustments are made constantly. Some months ago Matthew and Craig agreed to divide the after-dinner cleanup chores, with one of them clearing off the table and taking out the garbage while the other dried and put away the dishes. When this seemed to result in more horseplay than efficiency, the matter came up for family discussion.

It was ultimately settled that each of the boys would assume responsibility for the whole operation on alternate nights. Since then things have gone quite smoothly.

We use the same procedure when it comes to meting out penalties for misconduct. Everyone has a chance to suggest what he thinks the punishment should be; then a vote is taken. After Matthew had been reprimanded repeatedly for roughhousing with his younger brother, it was agreed that he would have to go to bed early, as younger children do, because he wasn't acting his age.

Don't think that these penalties always originate with Bertram and me. We are frequently overruled. Once when I made a motion that Carolyn be required to eat in the kitchen for pelting her brothers with peas at the dinner table, it was decided that the punishment didn't fit the crime, and she was made to spend only part of one meal in "solitary."

When, however, Craig failed to follow his brother's example in keeping his room picked up, it was unanimously voted that for a week he was to look after Matthew's room as well as his own.

Sometimes punishments take the form of fines. After Craig repeatedly failed to heed warnings not to hurl himself down the front staircase like a circus tumbler, the family verdict was that he be fined 5¢ of his allowance for each future offense. And little Carolyn has been fined so often for leaving her toys on the living-room floor that she now brings her piggy bank to meetings with her.

Needless to say, my husband and I try to keep in mind the fact that we can't be too rigid in expecting faultless behavior from our children. And we're free to admit that we, too, err frequently.

But we are trying to instill in our sons and daughter a desire for self-improvement. And we devoutly hope that by "living democracy" at home, they may be inspired to carry a feeling of oneness with their fellow-man out into the world at maturity.

It was the prospect of seeing the latter features side by side, not in a competitive way but just for the pleasure it would give PARADE's readers, that led our photographer Dave Preston to ask Messrs. # It's that DIAL feeling - you never worry about odor!

More than a feeling, it's a fact: with Dial Soap you never worry about perspiration odor. You see, normal perspiration has no odor until skin bacteria go to work on it. And ordinary soaps just can't get rid of bacteria effectively.

But Dial Soap does. It removes up to 95% of these odor-causers, because Dial is the one leading soap with AT-7 (Hexachlorophene). There's nothing else as good for keeping odor away. Dial's AT-7 clings to your skin, so it protects you all day—and several days if need be. That's why folks who use Dial every day say they just don't feel as clean with any other soap. Dial stops odor before it starts.

Aren't you glad you use Dial Soap? (don't you wish everybody did!)

Mass transportation in helicopers has come a step closer to realization with current test flights of the YH-16, the world's largest 'copter, at International Airport here.

Built for the U.S. Air Force by the Piasecki Helicopter Corp., the 15-ton, 42-place craft flies better than 130 mph. These photos show it being tried in troop operations. (It can load 20 soldiers and three jeeps.)

The YH-16's commercial prototype is now being developed. Powered with gas-turbine engines, it will seat from 48 to 60 passengers and have forward speeds of from 150 to 200 mph. Airlines will use it for short-haul service between centers of cities.

That's good news for people in a hurry, who sometimes spend 90 minutes getting to an airport and making connections for a 60-minute plane ride. # 'Nobody's Children': A Step Forward

The letter above, from Heman G. Stark of the California Youth Authority, shows that the U.S. finally is waking up to the problem of 300,000 runaway children. Spurred by PARADE's recent series, "Nobody's Children," the National Probation and Parole Association has drawn up an interstate compact to govern the care and safe return home of drifting kids.

If approved by the states, the compact would guarantee an end to the current practice of shooing the kids along until they reach the end of the line, physically and morally. It would provide speedy return home, and investigation to see what problems prompted their departure in the first place.

A measure providing for California's approval has been introduced in the state legislature. Other states are expected to follow. Stark writes:

"PARADE is to be congratulated for the part it has played in presenting this problem to the people of the U.S. When approved, the interstate compact will provide a practical means of treating the transient and runaway youngsters who are now floating about the country."

As PARADE goes to press, three bills have just been introduced in the U. S. Senate to implement this state action in several ways. Perhaps a new era is dawning for a problem too long ignored.

Hopelessness may give way to hope for runaways like this boy, waiting in a detention camp. New compact would provide for their quick return home.

FUNNYMAN Thomas and actress Loretta Young beam after winning this year's TV "Emmy" awards.

Behind TV's Danny Thomas there's a story of faith. It explains Danny's philosophy . . .

He Makes Room for Happiness

Look at comedian Danny Thomas (on today's cover, for instance) and you see a successful man. His name is known wherever his television program, Make Room for Daddy (ABC-TV, Tuesday nights), appears. Night-club patrons from coast to coast relish his low-key, family-type humor. His great popularity brings him comparable carnings. Happily married, father of three, owner of a house and swimming pool in Beverly Hills—Danny's got it all.

But it was not always thus. Danny has it because he worked for it—and because he has a patron saint. His is the classic American success saga, with variations.

It begins with a couple named Yahoob, born in Lebanon at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. They came to the U. S. and their name became Jacobs. They had eight sons and a daughter; the boys today share a single nickname, Jake. One of the Jakes, baptised Alphonsus Amos, wound up annexing the given names of two of the others. Thus Danny Thomas.

Danny's father was raising dray horses, unprofitably, when Danny entered the world in Deerfield, Mich. The family moved to Toledo, and at 9 he became a newsboy because "we were poor. Poor, period." Two years later he shifted to selling ice cream in a burlesque house. In those days burlesque was mainly comedy, mainly clean. Danny saw how it was received—and ambition was born.

"I guess I've always had the desire to make people happy," he says now. "If I'd been an educated man, I'd have become a priest."

STATUE of his patron, St. Jude, is a showpiece in Danny's garden.

As it was, he formed a comedy act with three other boys; it wasn't bad, considering. Later he acted in school shows. And at 17 he thumbed a ride to Detroit to join a minor-league radio program.

Danny stayed in Detroit nine years. He got married. He developed an act called "trumpet impressions"—produced with a gas pipe and a funnel—and landed occasional club, theater and beer-garden dates. By 1940, with a wife and child to support, he was averaging a fat $35 a week.

But then came Danny's patron saint. A stagehand told him that his wife had been cured of cancer because he prayed to St. Jude Thaddeus, patron saint of the hopeless. Danny, though a good Catholic, never had heard of St. Jude—but that night, on impulse, he too offered a prayer.

"I asked him humbly: 'Do I or do I not belong in show business?' I told him: 'If

FAMILY PARADE on the Thomases' lawn:

I belong, and if I make good, I'll build you a shrine.' "

Ten mornings later, when Danny awoke, his wife Rosemarie told him he had been talking in his sleep—about Chicago. Danny took it as a sign, kissed his family and his gas pipe goodbye and headed for the Windy City.

The sign meant what it said. He got some radio work (his first job: as the voice of "Hard Bristle Toothbrush" in a commercial). Then he managed to meet an agent who liked his style of humor and booked him—for one week—into the 5100 Club on Broadway.

What Danny presented there was basically what he still does—"philosophical comedy, based on the foibles of humanity; 80 per cent dramatic, leading up to an incongruous finish." So doubtful was he of its appeal that when the proprietor offered him a second week and Danny asked for a day off to bring his family to Chicago, the boss said, "On one condition—make sure you come back with them."

What followed still is remembered by patrons of the 5100 Club. Danny stayed three solid years; for 26 weeks he got a $10 raise every week. At the end his stipend was $500. Then the owner offered him a 25 per cent interest in the establishment. Danny was in.

But the next Sunday he went to early Mass. In his pew was a picture of St. Jude Thaddeus (inscribed with a special novena). Says Danny: "The hair stood right up on my head. I suddenly remembered that yow I had made."

To keep the vow would take more even

1. to r., Tony, 6; Terry, 12; Rosemarie; Margaret, 17; Danny.

than Chicago promised. But again came a "miracle." A big-time agent caught Danny's act and signed him up. Result: Danny went to New York, played 16 weeks in a top night club, was offered $3,750 a week by a theater, turned it down to go overscas with USO units (Danny himself was deferred for dependency reasons) and, after the war, returned to call his shots—clubs, theaters, Hollywood—pretty much as he pleased.

Finally television beckoned with a situation-comedy show, built around a traveling comic much like Danny Thomas. His wife supplied the title. "When Danny is on the road," she explained, "one of the children moves in with me. When he's coming home, I say: 'Move your things out. Make room for Daddy!'"

Nowadays Danny travels less than of yore, but when he does it is with an ulterior motive: raising money for his shrine. The latter will take the form of a hospital for underprivileged children in Memphis, a city with an acute need for such facilities. Danny aims to raise a million dollars for it. So far, through benefit performances, he has garnered close to $250,000. For the rest, he seeks mainly small contributions.

The Centenarian Had a Secret

Apart from his personal obligation to St. Jude Thaddeus, Danny has one big philosophical goal. He wants people—all races, all creeds—to be happy. He likes to quote Groucho Marx's story of the 104-year-old contestant on his TV show whom Groucho asked for the secret of a long, contented life.

"It's easy," the old man said. "You wake up every morning and decide then and there: 'Which shall it be today, happy or unhappy?' It's as easy as that."

Danny agrees, but he adds one more thing. "I think the key to happiness is anti-hatred," he says. "I think that if man can throw out the word destroy, then he'll be happy.

"Wealth is not the key. The Bible said the meek shall inherit the earth; it didn't say the tycoons. People who seek only material things have no time for God, no time for faith, no time for brotherhood. They have no time for happiness."

Danny has time for those things now. At 41, he knows better than many people how important they really are.

R INSO BLUE does so many different jobs so brilliantly, it honestly makes other detergents seem old-fashioned. Listen to this:

1. RINSO BLUE blues as it washes. As a result, your shirts, sheets and towels—yes, even rayon and nylon clothes—come out cleaner and whiter, your colored clothes brighter. And you don't need to add any bluing!

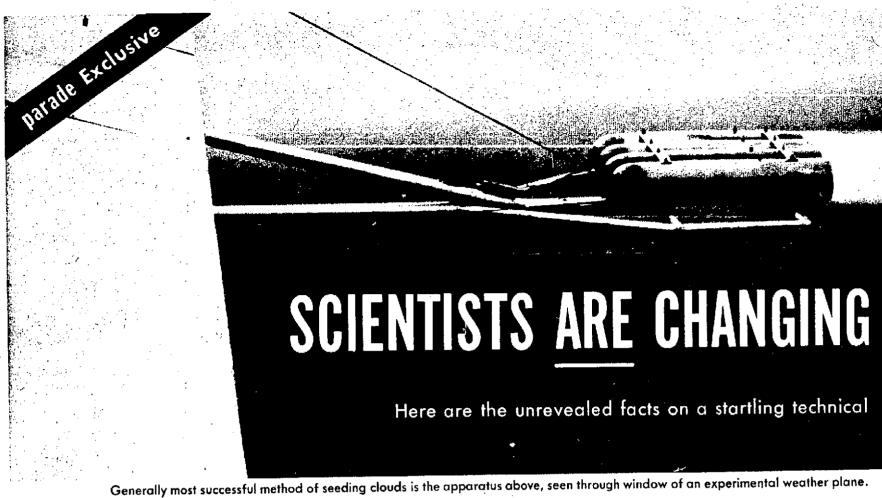

- 2. This new RINSO formula gives you the cleaning power to get even soiled work clothes really clean in your washing machine.
- 3. It's also delightfully mild. That's why so many gals use RINSO BLUE for dishes.

Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees new RINSO BLUE, just as we have always guaranteed Rinso soap in the green box.

· WASHINGTON.

THAT OLD JOKE-"If you don't like the weather, wait a minute!"-has a new twist. The modern version goes: "If you don't like the weather, hire a weather modifier."

But it's no joke; science can change your weather. Nearly 100 firms currently are in the business of making rain, dispersing fog, preventing hail, diverting lightning. They can move unwanted rain from a cherry orchard, say, to a wheat farm 10 miles away. They can produce a sudden shower to douse a forest fire, or turn a snowstorm on and off at will. One research group tried tampering with a hurricane; it abruptly changed course and ripped into Georgia.

This infant industry knows it can do what it claims, but it has a problem: the results can't always be proved. The weather modifier has to share credit with nature. He can't be sure how much weather change he produces, how much results from natural causes.

Searching for the answers is a scientific panel set up by Congress in 1953 as the President's Advisory Commission on Weather Control. The Commission has been gathering data for months from weathermakers all over the nation and will file a report with the President by June 30, 1956.

To be sure, many weather experiments have washed out. But here are actual occurrences the Commission has been hearing about.

One rainmaker, reporting on his work for a group of Oklahoma wheat farmers, said: "They hadn't had any rain for three weeks and were getting worried. Twenty-four hours after I had started, about half an inch of rain fell in the 100-square-mile area I was working on." That one rainfall meant thousands of dollars to the farmers.

Another was hired to put out several forest fires near Redding, Calif., and suppress the lightning that was starting them. He reported: "We split a thunder-head, caused the top to slide off another and stopped the lightning-all in one operation." Over an inch of rain fell, extinguishing some blazes.

The event was witnessed by amazed forest rangers. Acknowledged one: "The lightning bolts went from vertical to horizontal and seemed to stay there until the clouds all disappeared. I don't know how it was done. I don't know why it occurred. But I saw it happen six times in a row."

Again, chemicals shot into clouds obscuring Mt. Bering, Wash., opened a hole for helicopters searching for a wrecked plane. Cedar Mountain, also in Washington, was cleared of storm conditions so quickly that 21 persons in a downed aircraft were rescued within minutes after the crash.

Weather modifiers have found fog easier to prevent than disperse. But they have cleared fog from the San Jose, Calif., airport, the entrance to Golden Gate Bridge, around Medford, Ore., and elsewhere. One operator was able to prevent fog from closing in on a million-dollar outdoor movie 100 out of 120 days.

Another operator reported on snow-making: "We had a project on in Santa Barbara, Calif. The city had a silver-iodide generator up on Mt. Figuero, and the men discovered that when they turned on the generator, it snowed. They got so entranced with the effectturning the generator off and on-that they snowed themselves in. It took a bulldozer to get the whole crowd out."

The character of snow can be changed, too. Onc weather maker told this anecdote: "I arrived at the 4,000-foot elevation at a place called Mono Pines, Calif. At that point there was a steady fall of large, flat flakes of snow, but there was no snow on the ground at all. One generator was turned on and seven minutes later, just like that, the snowfall changed from' these large, flat flakes into a very intense fall of rodshaped flakes. And the total fall was much greater than before.

"I waited 30 minutes and turned the generator off. Eight minutes later, the fall went back to those large, flat flakes again. After I went through the cycle several times, we had four inches of snow on the ground. Five miles up the highway there wasn't a sign of snow anywhere."

Only once, on October 13, 1947, have scientists tried seeding a hurricane. Three planes, flying at 30,000 feet, dropped dry ice into the storm as it swept northward about 400 miles off the Georgia coast. The experts reported a "pronounced modification" over a 300-square-mile area. Next day, the hurricane "veered in a peculiar manner and swung into Georgia." It's unlikely that other such experiments will be attempted until more answers are known.

Attached to wing, it releases particles of chemical as plane flies through target area.

One scientist on that first hurricane-seeding flight told PARADE: "Tampering with hurricanes along the East Coast is a dangerous business. The public will always hold us responsible for all the damage a hurricane does after we've seeded it. Even if the seeding has no effect, how can we prove it, for example, if the storm later clobbers New York City?"

Despite difficulties, many experts, including Nobel Prize winner Dr. Irving Langmuir, are confident hurricanes can be changed, particularly "young" ones just starting. Right now they can't say how storms will react to seeding. Dr. Langmuir has urged that tests be conducted on typhoons in the Pacific Ocean. So the day may come when a hurricane can be broken up or at least diverted from the nation's shores.

How It All Started

The first man-made weather was produced on Nov. 13, 1946, over Pittsfield, Mass. Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer, father of weather modification, went up with pilot Curtis Talbot in search of a suitable cloud. His laboratory notebook reads:

"Curt flew into the cloud and I started the dispenser in operation. I dropped about three pounds of dry ice . . . and was thrilled to see long streamers of snow falling from the base of the cloud through which we had just passed. I shouted to Curt to swing around and, as we did so, we passed through a mass of glistening snow crystals!

"We made another run through a dense portion of the unseeded cloud, during which time 1 dispensed about three more pounds of crushed dry icc. . . . We then swung west of the cloud and observed draperies of snow which seemed to hang for 2,000 to 3,000 feet below us. . . . I turned to Curt and we shook hands as I said, 'We did it!'

From this simple beginning, weather modification has progressed to a complex, but still inexact, science. Statisticians keep asking questions: "How do you know you caused the rain? How do you know it wouldn't have happened anyway? What is the past weather history of that locality? Are you sure the propwash of your plane didn't tear the cloud apart? How accurate were your rain gauges? Do you have photographic proof?

In California, where much of the pioneer work in rain-making has been done, the state recently completed an official survey. The results haven't been made public, but PARADE can report this conclusion of state officials: "The evidence . . . indicates the weather in California has been modified." Left as an "open question" was whether anyone can actually produce rain at a given spot at a given time.

The most spectacular results were reported in Santa Barbara County, where officials found that half the storm clouds seeded were "significantly affected," increasing precipitation by 50 to 95 per cent.

By law, all research now must be turned over to the Presidential commission whose chairman, Capt. Howard T. Orville, expects to come up with at least partial answers by the June 30, 1956 deadline. "Ordinary statistical analysis," he explains, "might provide quite positive answers in 10 or more years. But the nation's water needs cannot wait."

A Long Road Ahead

Top weather scientists are the first to admit their research is still in its infancy. Dr. Schaefer told PARADE: "The atmosphere is one of the last relatively unknown and unprobed regions left to science. It's a wild and unpredictable laboratory. And we need lots of new men and new talents. Anyone who says it's. impossible to control the weather just doesn't know modern science. . . . Today we can alter weather. Someday we may be able to control it with accuracy."

A scientific team, including Dr. Schaefer, soon will start a carefully controlled experiment in weather modification. They will seed a selected "target" area and use nearby regions as unseeded "control areas." Through meticulous scientific control, the group hopes to compile data which will answer the ever-present question, "How much can we modify the weather?"

The commercial weather-changers try to contribute what scientific proofs they can, but their job is to get results; that's what their clients pay for. And often they work under difficult circumstances.

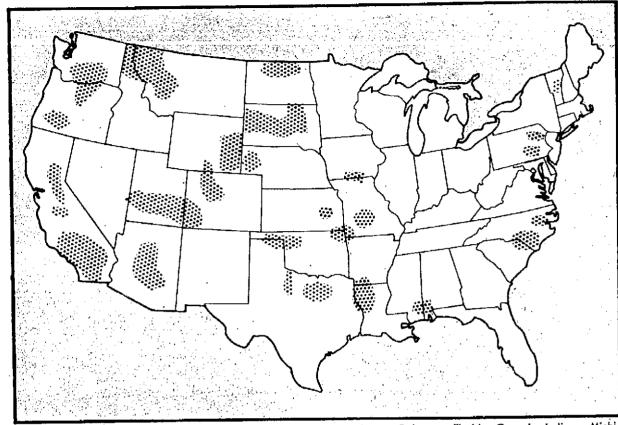

One rainmaker, for instance, was hit by seven lawsuits as the result of rain he didn't cause. A local newspaper reported his firm was to start operations on a particular day. An accident delayed him, but it rained anyway without his help. Seven citizens promptly filed damage suits for things as trivial as stockings harmed by wind and rain while hanging on a clotheslinc.

Another problem, of course, is know-how. A weather modifier must know something about meteorology in order to know which clouds to seed. He must be enough chemist to know which chemicals work best, enough engineer to assemble the best equipment. He should know about radar, which is used to peer into the hearts of clouds. He needs a knowledge of physics to understand what will happen when he seeds a cloud.

Chemicals, salt, even smoke can make rain

THIS YEAR'S experimental rain-making areas appear, shaded, on map. Only 10 states so far have not had such experiments: Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia.

Big companies often hire consulting meteorologists, chemists and other experts, but the smaller firms are forced to operate on their own knowledge and experience. Some small-fry outfits operate with a simple vapor generator which, from the ground, pours invisible smoke consisting of billions of tiny chemical particles into a promising cloud mass.

This is the "rain factory," usually a puffy cloud. It is deceptively peaceful looking, but boiling inside with turbulent air. The chemical particles are sucked in and tossed about. Gradually, they collect ice until crystals form and start to fall through the cloud. The air currents break them up, whisk them aloft again to form more crystals. This process continues in chain reaction until the cloud gets heavy. Then the ice drops fall free, turning to rain as they approach warmer air near the ground.

The most common seeding agent is silver iodide, though dry ice, common salt and other chemicals have been used successfully. One weather experimenter, flying over Guam, tossed a large, artificial snowball into a cumulus cloud. "Made a hole right through the cloud," he reported.

Even factory smoke can have an effect. A weatherman flying near Gary, Ind., noticed smoke pouring from a large stack. He reported: "Downwind from this stack about three quarters of a mile was a perfect patch of snow. There wasn't another bit of snow within a thousand miles."

Over 20 per cent of the United States has been a target area for weather experiments. Some scientists are frankly nervous about the results. One acknowledges that man-made weather may have helped cause the Missouri River floods four years ago. "At that time," he says, "we had a band of cloud-seeding all the way from Canada throughout the Rocky Mountains, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Kansas, some in Nebraska, down into New Mexico and even down into Mexico. I can't help feeling it could have caused some results on that flood."

He adds that Ohio's Thanksgiving blizzard in 1952 produced up to 30 inches of snow in places, "and that storm was seeded. I doubt the advisability of seeding a storm of that nature."

The Positive Side

Yet, weather modification obviously can benefit the nation. For example:

The U.S. is running out of fresh water; in fact, some experts believe the impending water shortage should be given priority over atomic-power development. Rainmaking could swell our streams and fill our reservoirs, providing more water for industry, irrigation, hydroelectric power—and for thirsty cities.

Farmers, long at the mercy of the weather, soon may be able to order rain for their crops—or, if they prefer, stop rain. (A four-hour downpour, for example, will cause cherries to swell and split.)

Crop-destroying hail also may be averted.

Fog-free landing strips would be a boom to aviation. Cities, plagued with smog, also are looking for a solution. One weather modifier thinks he has it.

"We don't care what smog is, though millions have been spent on finding out," he says. "All we're interested in is moving the lower atmosphere through inducing artificial currents of air upward, carrying the smog up and above the city."

Storm damage some day may be saved by weather control. Jerome Namias, chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecasting, points out that a hurricane has the energy of "some 500 A-bombs set off each minute." Weather control even may play an important part in military strategy. The armed services dream of the day when rain or snow can be produced to immobilize the enemy, when hurricanes can be diverted to protect bases.

One group, however, isn't particularly happy about weather-making. That is the weather forecasters.

At Medford, Ore., an operator seeded a supercooled fog with dry ice and a quarter-inch of snow fell. The official forecaster in Seattle was caught flat-footed with a prediction of fair weather.

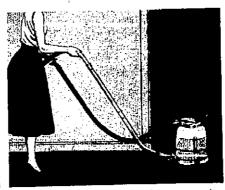

"The next day he predicted snow, but we didn't seed the next day, and there was no snow," says the weather modifier. "We ran across that forecaster about six months later. He said it was sure exasperating!"

APPOMATTOX COURT HOUSE

by VIRGINIUS DABNEY

EDITOR, THE RICHMOND (VA.) TIMES-DISPATCH

APPOMATTOX, VA.

As the pictures on these pages show, the 90th anniversary of Gen. Robert E. Lee's surrender here to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant finds this historic shrine almost completely restored to its appearance on the climactic day of the Civil War—April 9, 1865.

For many years after the capitulation of the Army of Northern Virginia, Appomattox lay almost forgotten. Like most of the South, it passed through a period of poverty. In 1892, the inhabitants became aware that it was a serious disadvantage not to be on a railroad. So, three miles distant, a new and thriving town with the same name sprang up, and the surrender village lay gaunt and deserted.

Then, in the 1930s, interest in preserving the hamlet arose. The first plan, to mark the site with a shaft, was abandoned in the face of opposition. There followed a better plan, providing for restoration of the village to the appearance it had in 1865. Work began in 1940, and has been going forward ever since.

The job of raising a new Appomattox from the ruins of the old now is almost complete. The old tavern where stagecoaches stopped, the old county jail, the country store, the comfortable home of Thomas Bocock, Speaker of the Confederate House of Representatives; the home of George T. Peers, county clerk who witnessed the events of the surrender—all have been rebuilt with careful attention to historic detail.

The most painstaking reconstruction job was the home of Wilmer McLean, scene of Lee's surrender. It had been pulled down in the '90s for re-erection at the Chicago World's Fair. But it never was taken to the Fair, and the timbers and bricks were left to rot and crumble.

Fortunately, the contractor who dismantled the house kept complete notes, and the same firm did the rebuilding. Some 15,000 original bricks were salvaged. The job was finished in 1949. Original pieces of furniture were brought back, and replicas of others obtained. Today the house looks just as it did on Palm Sunday, Continued on page 16

Cannon marks route of Lee's journey across Appomattox to surrender to Grant.

The poplar tree still stands where Lee said farewell to his tearful veterans

The principal reconstruction project that remains is the old courthouse; when finished, it will serve as the Park museum. Temporarily the museum is housed in the tavern, where tattered battle flags, rusty muskets and pistols, old prints and lithographs are displayed. An elaborate map shows the final troop movements. It is so set up that electric lights flash on and off, simulating the marching and countermarching of the Northern and Southern soldiers.

A dramatic moment is the final desperate lunge toward Lynchburg of Gen. John B. Gordon's men, who knew they were surrounded on three sides. If they could break through to the West, there was hope Lee's army could survive. But blue lights in serried ranks, flashing into view, show where Union infantrymen barred the way.

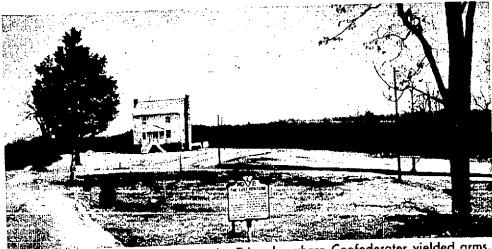

It was then that Gordon sent out his famous message, "Tell Gen. Lee that I have fought my corps to a frazzle, and I fear I can do nothing unless I am heavily supported by Longstreet's corps." Since Longstreet was already holding off two Union corps in Lee's rear, Lee saw that surrender was inevitable.

He asked General Grant for a conference.

Civil War cannon and cannon balls and a memorial bridge mark the spot on the Appomattox River where Lee crossed on his way to meet General Grant, and where he crossed again to tell his men the fighting was over. Not far away is the poplar tree under which Lee sat on his famous horse, Traveller, and bid farewell to his weeping veterans.

Actual details of parole and surrender were worked out the next day by Union and Confederate generals, meeting first in the tavern and then in McLean House. On April 12, the remnants of the Army of Northern Virginia marched across the Appomattox to the village. There, at "Surrender Triangle," Union troops saluted as the Confederates stacked their arms and battle flags.

Ten years hence, when the centennial of the surrender is observed, the final finishing touches will have been put on the reborn Appomattox. Even today, the visitor has little difficulty recreating the events of that April 90 years ago, when fighting ended between two great armies and the unity of the republic was fixed for all time.

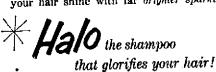

Peers House gazes down at Surrender Triangle, where Confederates yielded arms.

In action, Billy Joe hits a long ball. His form has some flaws, but it's effective.

Golf's Happiest 'Hacker'

'Week-end player' Billy Joe Patton is the pros' nemesis—and the fans' darling

This Thursday, Billy Joe Patton, voted "outstanding golf personality of 1954" and twice a playing partner of President Eisenhower, will return to the scene of his first triumph-the Masters' Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

Not that amateur Billy Joe won the Masters last year. He finished behind professionals Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, who tied for first. His triumph lay in the way he captured the fans' imagination. He was a contender until the 13th hole of the final round; throughout, he bantered with the gallery, approached his shots with reckless abandon and played as though he were strictly out for a lark. Nothing as refreshing as Billy Joe had appeared on the sports scene in a long time.

Since last year's triumph, Billy Joe has won the North-South Amateur, finished sixth in the National Open (he tied Ben Hogan) and been chosen to the 1955 Walker Cup team. But he remains a week-end golfer who still plays just for the fun of it.

Billy Joe's chitchat with the gallery does not sit too well with some of the tournament regulars. It was no secret that Hogan, who plays with an icy concentration, was upset by Billy Joe's ebullience when they were a twosome last year in the Open. It was in that tourney that Billy Joe asked a spectator how much his ticket had cost. When the man told him, Billy Joe drawled, "Watch this shot." He rapped a miracle shot and turned to the man again. "I hope that was worth the price of admission," he said.

Byplay like that will have the galleries cheering for Billy Joe againwhether the other golfers like it or not -as he tries again for the top prize in one of the nation's biggest tournaments.

Oddly, Billy Joe reached the Masters last year through a fluke. He had been something of a golf prodigy back in his home town of Morganton, N. C., shooting 104 on a local course the first time he played-at age 11. The local paper called him another Bobby Jones, and this so inspired Billy Joe that he never afterwards shot over 100.

But inspiration wasn't enough. Although Billy Joe won the Carolina Open in 1951 and once tied South African star Bobby Locke in a local tourney, he soon realized he'd never be a Jones. So, after attending Wake Forest College and serving in the Navy, he settled down to a lumber business, married a Southern girl, became the father of three children and did his golfing on week ends.

Then came the 1954 Masters. It was decided for the first time to invite Walker Cup team alternates, and Billy Joe qualified. Right from the start, he charmed the fans. He won the driving contest from all the top pros, using only one of his three chances. And when he was congrutulated on his 385-yard wallop, he said, "Why, it was nothing but a little ole practice ball."

At the end of the first day's play, he was tied with pro Dutch Harrison for the lead. But one-day marvels aren't unusual in tourney play, and the wise heads smiled sagely and waited for him to fade. No one knew this better than Billy Joe. "Don't go overboard on me in your stories," he told reporters. "I may shoot 80 tomorrow."

When he was still leading at the end of the second day, he still had no illusions. "I know it's not going to last," he said, "but I'm living it up while I've cot it."

'Let's Smile Again'

On the third day, he slipped to 75 and the skeptics nodded. But in the final round a hole-in-one put him right back in the fight. Then, on the 13th hole, he took a 7-and that finished him. He took it by playing in a typical Patton way: spurning safety, he tried to shoot over a water hazard and knocked the ball in the drink. His gallery was despondent, but Billy Joe was unperturbed. As he approached the 14th tee, he turned to the fans and said, "Let's smile again."

The remark sums up Billy Joe's attitude toward golf. It's the same casual air that prompted the President to tell a friend, "I like to play with Billy Joe." Patton himself explains his rise from week-end golfer to tournament hit much the same way. "I gained perspective," he says. In other words, Billy Joe, whose game is neither stylish nor consistent, won't fall apart if the breaks go against him. A hole-in-one or a lost championship is just part of the game to him.

With an attitude like that, the funloving lumber dealer can't help being a winner in the Masters-no matter how many strokes he takes.

Billy Joe. As shown above (top to bottom), his custom is to line it up, putt coolly and—usually—see it drop.

TIPS ON HOW TO WIN PART

Here's what some people think air travel will be like in 1985!

It's so much fun to imagine what flying will be like in 1985. Just read these answers. See how easy it is to predict things to come. Then write your own predictions on the official entry blank TWA will send you when your entry to Part 1 is received.

For example, a housewife may write: "In 1985, I think aviation will be like this: It will be possible to fly all the way from Los Angeles to London without stopping. It will take just 6 hours; and you'll fly in an airplane that looks like a flying saucer, with no wings or tail and a huge cabin that is divided into many private staterooms. There will be no runways at airports because these planes will take of straight up and land like helicopters. The average speed of these planes will be about 1000 miles an hour. They'll fly about 30 miles up in the stratosphere. These planes will use atomic power that will last indefinitely, and their engines will be made of materials that last for years and years without attention."

A businessman might say: "In 1985, I think commercial aviation will be like this: Planes will be powered by rockets using a new type of fuel. They will fly at altitudes of 50 to 100 miles above the earth at a speed of 2000 miles per hour. Because of this speed, special watches will be designed so passengers can keep up with the rapid change in time zones. These space planes will take off straight up in the air. They will land the same way, using a special device that counteracts the gravity pull of the earth. They will have a range of 25,000 miles, so they can fly non-stop anywhere in the world. These planes will carry an many as 500 passengers and will feature complete restaurant service, a movie theatre, soda fountain and a cocktail lounge.

Here's a dry-type dog food he can't wait to eat!

Delicious dry dog food that smells meaty, tastes meaty, beats meat for nourishment

....NO COAXING...NO LEFTOVERS!

You'll have a hard time holding him back when the dish is full of Ken-L-Biskit. For Ken-L-Biskit has a meaty aroma that tempts him to eat... a meaty flavor that keeps him eating eagerly until the dish is empty. That's because Ken-L-Biskit has real meat meal baked right in. And Ken-L-Biskit is plenty nourishing, too. The meat meal, plus added vitamins and minerals, makes it more nourishing than meat alone. Ken-L-Biskit is crumbled into small nuggets for easy feeding, wet or dry, and a day's serving for a 20-lb. dog costs just 8f. Look for it in 2-, 4-, 25-, and 50-lb. sizes.

Teen-age Queries

Dates, going steady, what time to come home—here are authoritative answers

As I am working on a book for teenagers, I welcome the large amount of mail I have been getting from PARADE'S teen-age readers. Here are some of their questions:

Q. I will be 16 in a few months and my father is very strict. He says he won't let me go out with boys until I am 19. (I can't even go to parties.) Please, please tell me what I can do.—"A Desperate Reader"

A. Your father is not being realistic. Other girls your age in your community have dates, of course, as your mother well knows. Your father should have more confidence in the upbringing he and your mother have given you.

Perhaps if you see your clergyman or your teacher or school principal about this, he can reason with your father in a way that he will understand. By his over-protecting attitude he is denying you the social practice all girls your age require, and he is running the grave risk of throwing you into the arms of the first boy who shows interest in you at that 19th-year deadline.

Q. I am 14 years old and most of my friends go steady with boys. Do you think I am too young to go out with boys?— P.B.J., Raynham, Mass.

A. No, not too young, but too young to go steady. And too young, too, not to have the very careful supervision of your parents in the matter of where you may go, how late you may stay out and what you may do. Remember that loving parents care about all of these things concerning their daughters and sons. Careless, unthinking parents usually are the ones who do not have rules about these things.

Q. If a boy wants to know if you like him, should you tell him or change the subject?—C.R., Fort Worth, Tex.

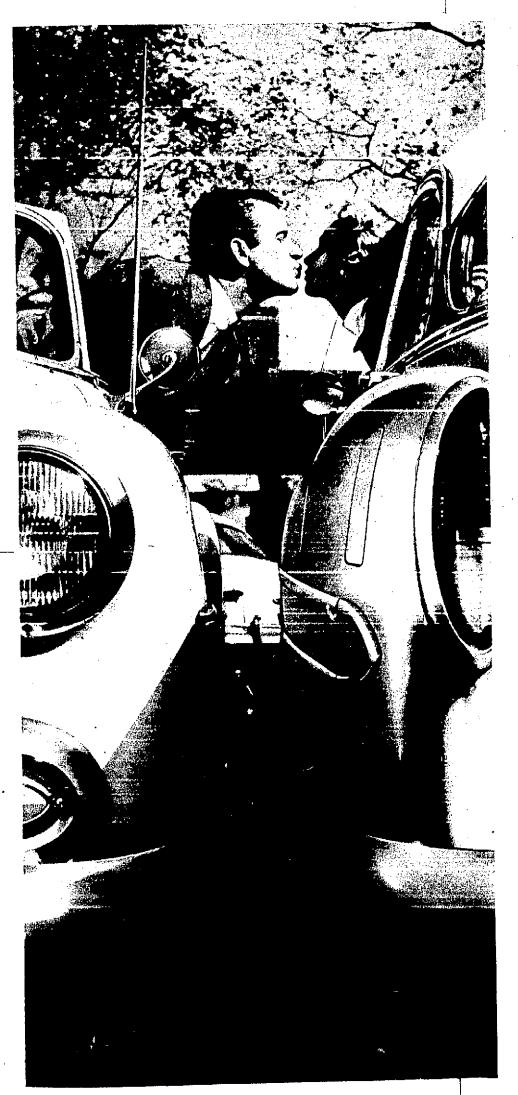

A. You might be evasive if you don't like him. If you do like him, why not let him know if he asks you? Just don't fall all over him in your gratitude, for there will be many other boys in time who will like you just as well, if not better.

Q. 1 am a girl, 15. I have been asked to the junior prom. My mother says 1 have to be home at 12. I disagree, as it is a once-a-year occasion.—L.M.M., Somerville, Mass.

A. Why not ask your mother to consult other mothers whose daughters are going to the same prom? If they all agree that a little later time, under the circumstances, is permissible, then perhaps your mother will let you stay out until the time agreed upon.

Ordinarily I would say that 12 o'clock is late enough for you. You do not fall in the estimation of your escort because of this, Quite the contrary!

QUESTIONS FROM READERS will be answered in this column as space permits. (Miss Vanderbilt cannot answer letters personally.) Address: Amy Vanderbilt, c/o PARADE, 285 Madison Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

Who can afford to love a woman that much?

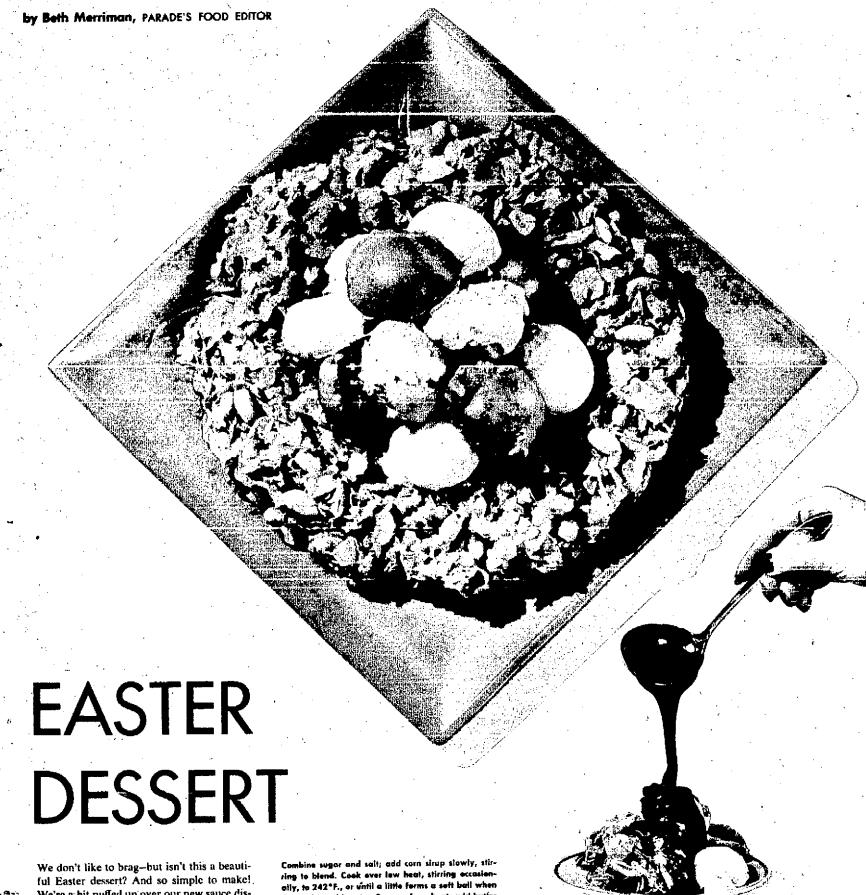

Two can drive as cheaply as one—if you and your wife are resigned to taking turns using the one and only family car.

If that makes her unhappy, remember that the best way (ahem!) to get around a woman is to get a good used car for her to get around in. Economically—of course. And if you love her—safely. And if you really love her a lot—with comfort and pride.

Who can afford to love a woman that much? You can—with the help of your authorized Chevrolet dealer, who has something special in the way of an OK Used Car that's just right for your wife. In writing—in writing, mind you—her OK Used Car will be warranted by the dealer to have been thoroughly inspected, and reconditioned for safety, performance and value. These OK Used Cars are what he says they are (or what you read they are in the used car "classifieds"). They're honestly described and priced to sell—strictly OK all the way.

If you want to get your wife back in the driver's seat (in a car of her own), come in and take a look at the many OK values that will please her and suit your purse. And remember they are sold only by authorized Chevrolet dealers.

We don't like to brag—but isn't this a beautiful Easter dessert? And so simple to make! We're a bit puffed up over our new sauce discovery, too: a rich, satiny sauce, just thick enough, that won't harden when it meets ice eream—made without cooking!

'Cubs' Take to the Woods

This month's big project: a Den Mother teaches Scouts what a tree farm is NEWARK, N. J.

"Peter Pine had never seen a real forest before because he had been born in a tree nursery many miles away. Farmer Jones wanted to add pines to his forest, so he had bought Peter along with thousands of other seedlings . . .

Seated around a dining-room table in a comfortable apartment here, seven Cub Scouts listened intently as their Den Mother, pretty, dark-haired Mrs. R. J. Shanks, read them The Adventure of Thunder Hill Tree Farm.

On the table before them, like a model of a stage set, was Thunder Hill Tree Farm itself, complete with barns, fences, windmills and tree-covered background. As Mrs. Shanks read the story, the boys placed numbered cutouts of firebreaks, fire towers and individual trees in their proper places on the "set."

The boys nodded understandingly as Mrs. Shanks read about seedlings, tree moths and tree farms. They had just come back from a field trip to a city park, where Den Mother Shanks had given them a personal introduction to trees. And for these city-bred kids it was like opening the door on a new world. Mrs. Shanks showed them how a pine tree pops its cones and spreads its seeds, how forestsgiven an even chance-replant themselves, how to tell a felled tree's age by counting the rings on the face of the stump.

All this fascinating activity, as shown in pictures on these pages, was a "preview" of a Cub Scout project for April that will make Cub Scout Foresters of some 1,235,-683 American boys between the ages of 8 and 11. In other homes across the nation, about 198,000 young married women-all Den Mothers like Mrs. Shanks-will read to the Cubs the story of Thunder Hill Tree Farm. Story booklet and cutout model are part of a project kit supplied by the American Forest Products Industries for use this month, when the Cub Scout project is forest conservation. The first of the four Den meetings devoted to the project will be held this week.

The tremendous interest shown in the April forestry project is gratifying not only to Boy Scout authorities. It is heartening to those currently grappling with a major U.S. problem: juvenile delinquency.

Experts see conservation activities as among the most effective means of counteracting the tensions that build up in leaderless groups of youngsters. It is obviously better, they point out, to take boys on a forestry field trip in a park than to have them roving the same area armed with switchblade knives and zip guns. The Den meeting itself-held in the friendly and sympathetic atmosphere of the home -- is considered an ideal "base of operations" in the fight on delinquency.

In a recent discussion of the problem, W. G. Power, Detroit automobile executive well known for his work with youth groups, cited the latest available figures from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the U.S. Children's Bureau to explain the seriousness of the situation: in 1953, one million juveniles (age 10 to 17) were arrested. Of that number, 385,000 were brought into juvenile court. Four out of five were boys.

Says Power: "To say kids today are worse than they ever were is to bring up the question: what can we do about it? First of all, we can encourage a healthy home life and a respect for other people's property. There is no organization that teaches those things better than the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts."

Now in its 25th year of operation, the Cub Scout program has taught "those things" to 5,770,824 boys. This neighborhood, home-centered program is kept going by 425,875 adult Cub leaders.

Describing the aims of the Cub Scout program, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America, says: "It is here that the enrichment of family life is the main objective. Through doing things together, boys and parents learn to know each other better. This emphasizes the strong family ties that help build a stronger America."

Den Mother Shanks and her tree-conscious Cubs know what he means.

Our Spies in Red China

Here is the inside story of how the U.S. pierces the Bamboo Curtain to get the facts-military, economic, political—that affect our own security

by JACK ANDERSON

EVERYONE KNOWS that spying goes on all over the world. Here for the first time are the publishable facts on American espionage in Red China. Nothing in this article can give information to the Communists; recognizable names and other details have been carefully aftered.

This article proves that the U. S. airmen juited in Red China on "spy" charges could not have been spies. As a matter of policy, we do not use uniformed personnel in undercover work; we do not use white Americans in China; and we do not send agents into China in airplanes.

The fleeting shadow of a junk slipped through the fog toward the flat, marshy Chinese coast, then scooted up one of the myriad canals that channel the tidewater. At a lonely spot, a hiddled figure crawled out. He was a U.S. agent infiltrating into Red China. His mission: to look for life preservers.

Why risk possible torture and death to check on life preservers? Though seemingly inconsequential, life preservers could be the tip-off to an invasion. Despite their new artiflery bracketing Quemoy, the Chinese Communists can't assault the strategic, Nationalist-held islands without them. The islands are protected by reefs that would snag most landing craft, so invading troops must swim ashore. Since most Chinese can't swim, they would need life preservers.

Slipping through the slats in the Bamboo Curtain is the difficult, dangerous job of a few unsung U.S. spiesheroes anonymous—all natives of China, all trained by our intelligence agencies, all risking their necks daily to secure information that may mean life or death to Americans everywhere.

Our pipelines into China are as complex as the Pentagon's plumbing. The Army, Navy and Air Force are plugged into their own intelligence lines. These are crossed with British Intelligence in Hong Kong and Chinese Nationalist Intelligence on Formosa. Enmeshed in the whole web is the shadowy Central Intelligence Agency.

For dependable intelligence, it's the CIA that carries the burden. It conducts a two-pronged search for information. One prong is called "white research"—the tedious analysis of public information gathered from newspapers, trade journals, technical publications, radio broadcasts and the like. The "white" researchers are technicians, engineers, economists, political scientists, geologists, artisans. They know where in the big jigsaw puzzle a tiny, obscure fact will fit.

Then there is "black research." This is done by the cloak-and-dagger boys who risk their lives to seek out enemy secrets. Finally, from the sum of facts than can be amassed, CIA headquarters has to evaluate the enemy's capabilities and intentions.

Our secret operatives usually are smuggled into China along the mudflat, canal-streaked coast between Hangehow and Swatow.

The junks that slip our agents ashore are run by "sleepers," as our friends inside China are called, or by the famous Chinese pirates who plunder, loot and smuggle along the coast. These pirates work strictly for profit; their activities are financial, never political. Some have enlisted as "deputies" in the Chinese Communist shore patrols. But if one of our agents pays enough, they will happily assist him past the Commies. If he neglects to pay, the pirates will just as happily cut off his head and deliver him in two parts to the Reds.

Contrary to published reports, American spies are not dropped into the Chinese interior from airplanes. Explains a top intelligence officer: "You have to parachute agents into remote areas. But in China's remote sections, the sight or sound of an airplane is an unusual event, and the young Communists are trained to report all unusual events immediately."

A few agents pick their way painstakingly over the Himalayas—disguised as merchants, beggars, coolies—along the ancient trade routes from Burma, Bhutan, Nepal and Tibet.

PARADE's reporters talked to one agent, just home from a secret mission behind the Bamboo Curtain. Call him Chen, because it isn't his name (and he may be going back to his work).

Disguised in grimy rags that reeked of fish, Chen sneaked aboard a small junk provided by two "sleepers." Under camouflage of night, they pushed off from Hong Kong (map, opposite page) and paddled across the murky Pearl River estuary, past the Red island outpost of Lin tin and larger Chung Hsan island, to join the constant junk traffic at the mouth of the Pearl River. They wound among the tiny islands along tributaries leading to Kongmoon, then followed one of the small creeks that reach into the city like watery fingers. Among hundreds of other junks, they were inconspicuous.

Chen made his way casually to the home of one of the boat owners, changed into better clothes and came out as a young Communist lawyer—complete with all the necessary forged papers. He had taken the precaution to study the new Red lawbooks and read up on back newspapers. To complete his background, he now steeped himself in local gossip.

Next Chen answered an ad in a Canton paper; a Communist law firm needed a legal assistant. Thanks to careful coaching, he convinced the firm's head that he had been living and working in Kongmoon.

After two months establishing himself as a bright young Red, Chen wangled an assignment that would take him to Shanghai. His purpose? To pick up secret documents and smuggle them out of the country. Who would question the credentials of a Communist attorney in good standing? Chen easily got hold of the documents, put them in a money belt under his clothes.

He had only one close call. Back in Canton, he caught a streetcar to the Marco Polo Temple to meet his two friends. A Red secret policeman pushed against him, felt the money belt and demanded to know what it contained. Chen's explanation that the belt held only personal papers wasn't good enough. But his plea that he couldn't remove the belt on the streetcar struck the Red as reasonable.

Lost: One Red

They departed the streetear and walked behind the Marco Polo Temple for privacy. Fortunately, the two "sleepers" were waiting; the Red was outnumbered three to one. They were forced to kill him and dump his body into the river.

To get out of China after a mission is often as hazardous as getting in. Usually the agent is assigned a prearranged rendezvous point on the coastline, where a friendly junk will ferry him to a waiting submarine or PT boat.

One agent found his rendezvous area cordoned off. He finally escaped by pretending to die. He read in the obituary news that a funeral procession was crossing into Hong Kong. "Sleepers" laid him out in a casket and joined the solemn procession. They gambled, successfully, on the traditional Chinese respect for the dead.

Spies in Red China CONTINUED

Like Chen, all agents go into China with a specific assignment. Here are a few things they watch for:

- Railroad and highway construction leading toward China's coastline. We need to keep track of all possible military routes.
- The number of troops on leave. Normally the men are allowed time off before reassignment. Large numbers on leave could mean a major troop movement.
- The location of new factories, munitions dumps, arsenals, military installations. A new airstrip, for instance—is it designed for jets?

To get the answers, our agents use all the equipment of modern espionage. For example, they transmit messages on microfilm so small it can be sealed under a postage stamp or even hidden under the period made by a typewriter. With tiny tweezers, the infinitesimal film can be moved to an enlarger and blown up into a readable message.

To avoid being caught, our agents also must be masters of disguise. They pose as farmhands, beggars, fishermen, merchants, doctors, patients. And attention must be paid to the smallest details.

At first, several agents disguised as peddlers were trapped because their feet were too clean. Chinese police know that native peddlers, after years of trudging around in clogs, have a thick coat of dirt on their feet, gnarled toenails, soles hard as shoe leather.

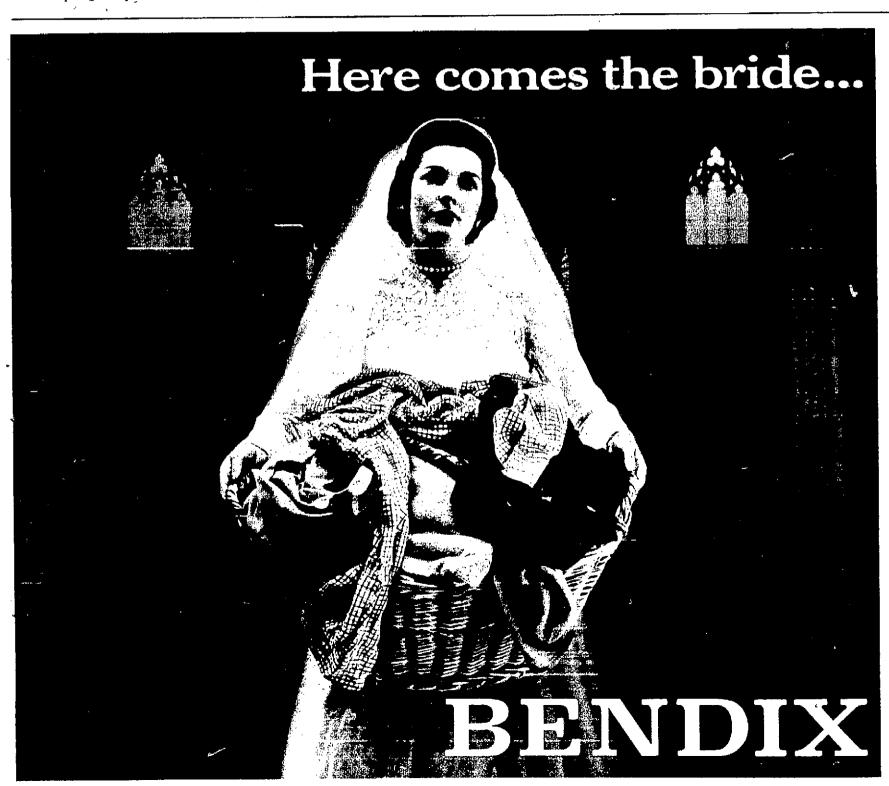

One agent was caught because his little toes turned inward. This telltale sign told police that the "peddler" had once worn Western-style shoes.

If an agent is caught, the penalty is terrible torture to extract information from him. Sometimes the Reds use the ancient water torture, flushing water down a man's throat until he talks or his insides burst. But more recently the emphasis has been on psychological torture—"brain-washing." The victim is torn from one extreme to another, his mind and body driven apart, until he breaks.

What motivates these Chinese agents to risk their lives for America? They may want revenge for some wrong done them. They may want to save China from Communism. Perhaps they are grateful for the kindness of an American missionary. In some cases, they simply want money.

It would be suicidal, of course, to send white agents into China. But once in a while we get help from White Russian "sleepers"—outwardly loyal Reds—who live in colonies in the major cities.

The CIA isn't dealing with individual agents alone.

It also is organizing small, underground resistance groups inside Manchuria and China, furnishing them with arms, explosives for sabotage and bribery money.

It can now be told, as an example of the activities of these secret American allies, that the Pentagon planned to use a guerrilla group to attempt a daring rescue of the U.S. airmen held on trumped-up spying charges. Before this could be carried out, however, the airmen were "sentenced" in a blaze of publicity. They became such celebrated, well-guarded prisoners that a rescue was impossible.

What are we learning from our intelligence activities inside China? Necessarily, most of the information remains highly secret. But these things can be told:

• Chinese sentiment is divided into three parts. About 20 per cent of the population is ardently Communistic, about 20 per cent pro-American. The remaining 60 per cent is straddling the fence, ever ready to jump to the winner.

- The Communists hold the tightest control over China of any government in its iong history. Fear makes neighbor inform against neighbor.
- The masses believe they have democracy, because they are allowed to vote for local leaders. But the Communists hand-pick the candidates.
- Famine and flood in the interior have plagued the Red leaders. But these are so common in tragic China that the deprivation has not undermined the Red regime.
- Taxes are sky-high, but the taxpayers are told the money is going "to the people." Some still swallow this line.
- Though the Chinese Communists have bragged about building factories and increasing production, surprisingly little has been accomplished. Most manufactured goods must be imported from Russia.
- Like Hitler's and Mussolini's, Mao Tse-tung's trains run on schedule.

CORRESPONDENT Jack Anderson (I.) poses with anti-Communist, Nationalist Chinese guerrilla officers with whom he tramped the hills of China in 1945. "Fragments of these bands still are making hit-and-run attacks on the Reds from hideouts in central China," says Anderson—who now reports on U.S. espionage against the Chinese Reds from first-hand knowledge.

but YOU don't have to be married to washday!

For now you can have a fabulous new WASHER that automatically turns into a DRYER.

Your new world can be a world without washdays ... where clean, sweet, dry clothes appear as if by magic. (All you do is set the dials.)

... where the laundry does itself while you shop or play ... even while you sleep.

Just tell your dealer you want the Bendix Duomatic Washer-Dryer, All-In-One. The first the only machine—that can automatically wash your clothes, then completely dry them.

More than a washer...more than a dryer it's BOTH-in-one

Turn the dials on this magical machine and you really turn your back on washday. The Bendix Duomatic washes, rinses and completely dries in one continuous operation—then safely stores your clean, dry clothes until you're ready to fold them away.

Yet, this one machine can be a washer only—a dryer only—or a wonderful combination of both. You'll use it for every kind of washing and drying job—even fluffing pillews, for instance. But we warn you—your neighbors will be as fascinated with your new Duomatic as you are. (We know of one woman who threatened to charge admission.)

Clothes are lifted and tumbled 50 times every minute

You may know, from sad experience, that ordinary washers can "machine" the life out of clothes.

Not the Duomatic. It gently lifts and surges them deep down into wash water—exposing every part of every garment to hundreds of jets of hot, sudsy water each minute.

Clothes are tumble-rinsed with this same action ... 3 times ... then lifted out of the water as it drains away. Clean clothes can't pick up so much as a soap bubble.

No wonder atomic tests, by an independent research laboratory, prove the Bendix Duomatic washes three-ways cleaner than leading automatics.

Happy facts about saving hot water

Your dealer can show you that the Duomatic uses far less hot water per washing... well under the average for other automatic washers.

And ... in the Duomatic, hot water doesn't cool off, as it invariably does in ordinary washers. A built-in heater ... a Bendix exclusive ... keeps wash water hot and hard working.

No other machine DRIES clothes with such loving care

After your clothes are washed and rinsed, the Bendix Duomatic automatically turns itself into a dryer.

Now balmy, June breezes blow through your clothes while the Duomatic gently fluffs and tumbles them completely dry . . . ready to wear, iron or fold away.

Bendix drying is so gentle . . . with safe, low temperatures . . . leading manufacturers advise it even for Fabulous Fabrics like Orlon, Nylon, Dacron. There is no possibility of scorching . . . or of baked-in wrinkles.

Saves space, too!

Take out your tape measure and you'll find the Duomatic takes little more space than "just a washer"... and much less space than separate washing and drying units. And because it's now available in both gas and electric models, there's a Duomatic for every home.

Life really is a honeymoon when you choose the Duomatic. Why don't you talk it over with your husband—and your Bendix dealer—soon.

Do you want a separate washer or dryer?

The new Bendix Tumble-Action Washer washes just like the Duomatic does. Same superior cleansing action . . . same rinses. Bendix Tumble-Action is also the only washer with the Tip-Top Laundry Guide. Closed, it hides the dials, gives you extra work surface. Open, it reveals convenient, up-front controls and a complete laundry guide.

And the new Bendix Fluff 'N' Tumble Dryers dry like the Duomatic does...gently, with safe low temperatures and a high flow of clean warm air. What's more, they're very low priced... as little as $158.88!

Thrifty Bendix Tumble-Action uses less water... So, of course, it uses less detergent, too!

Bendix prescribes ALL, the modern "controlled suds" detergent, for best washing results. ALL never chokes up your washer with suds that slow down washing action. That's why a free box of ALL is packed in every new Bendix washer.

A market report on new ideas to make your daily life easier

WASHDAY AID

· A liner for your hamper lets you empty it in one easy lift, saving constant stooping and the using of pillow cases or sheets as laundry bags. Made of heavy duck, with nontarnishable hooks and eyelets, it fits most metal- or plasticrimmed hampers. $1.19. HANDI-HAMPI, 17 E. Patterson St., Lansford, Pa.

PUSHBUTTON CAR POLISHER

 Now there's a liquid polish you can spray on your car from an aerosol can. A gentle wipe with a soft cloth and it beautifies and protects the finish. $2.95. LIQUID GLAZE, Dept. PP. 704 Sheridan, Lansing, Mich.

FISHERMAN'S SPRAY

· A dry-fly dressing in siliconespray form is said to eliminate the need for "dunking." Odorless, colorless, harmless to all fly materials, it's also said to dry fast, permit immediate use of flies, stay effective for 12 hours after application. $1. T. R. SEIDEL CO., INC., 312 Church St., Reading, Pa.

HOT WATER FROM COLD FAUCET

 A new palm-size electric heater you can attach to any faucet is said to make the coldest water hot in two seconds. Maker claims it's completely safe, too. A unique design permits a current flow of less than 1/5 of a milliampere. Another feature: faucet handle regulates temperature of water from steaming hot to lukewarm. $19.95. GREATEX, 890 Sixth Ave., New York 1, N. Y.

LEVER LATCH

· For the interior doors in your house, there's a door latch that uses no knobs. Its face extends outward from the door only  $\S^n$  and the edges are beveled to provide a smooth, attractive flush surface. A portion of the face works as a lever. Just insert a finger, pull and the door swings open. The latch is 312" high and 4" long, bronzefinished, easy to install. SOSS. Dept. PP. 21777 Hoover Rd., Detroit 13, Mich.

CAR-TOP CAMP: Here's an efficient "kit" for camping out. From the all-aluminum carrier on top of your car, this tent unrolls in five minutes to make a 7½' x 10½' room; it ralls up again in the same time. There's a canvas floor; corner aluminum frames eliminate center pole. Car-top carrier also has room for sleeping bags, cots, other equipment. KAR-KAMP, 11680 McBean St., El Monte, Calif.

DINE WITHOUT DISHWASHING: These wrought-iron holders make paper plates more attractive and easy to use. They give 9" dinner-size plates complete rigidity, raise them above table to china height. About 40¢ each. MULLEN, 1020 Rush St., Chicago 11, Ill.

EASIER CONCRETE-BLOCK JOBS: This trowel mold makes it possible for amateurs to do professionallooking mosonry jobs. It lays down a smooth, perfect ribbon of mortar without waste, makes all joints the same, simplifies leveling, It comes with a hopper which holds your mortar and is designed to make it easy to fill trowel. $7.50. ### CHARLESTON

Dance craze of the '20s makes a comeback

NEW YORK.

Not long ago an entire high-school senior class stormed aboard a passenger train at Ann Arbor, Mich., headed here. Their destination: Broadway. Their sole purpose: to watch some show people do the Charleston.

Now for all cats today, the Charleston is far out. Real nervous. It's a loose-jointed, bone-rattling dance, originally out of Charleston, S. C., that was a craze in America long before these youngsters were born. It's currently the feature of a hit Broadway musical called The Boy Friend, a pleasant spoof of life in the post-World War I decade sometimes known as "The Era of Wonderful Nonsense." The show, incidentally, was written by a youthful Briton, Sandy Wilson, who himself was in rompers when the Charleston was the rage. His show, it appears, is starting the Charleston craze all over again.

For example, more than 50 school groups like the Ann Arbor seniors-from the East, South and Middle West-have bought blocks of seats (average: 100) and taken the Charleston pilgrimage to Broadway. At Barnard College, here in New York, folk-dancing instructor Jeanette Schlottmann recently invited Ann Wakefield and Bob Scheerer, featured dancers in The Boy Friend, to show a class how to do the Charleston. One result: the pictures on these pages of guest-teachers and pupils in action.

Is there any reason why a 30-year-old dance should become a 1955 craze? Psychologists answer that it's probably because the Charleston's carefree gaiety represents a period when the nation wasn't bedeviled by tensions and anxiety. Nobody had H-bomb jitters, and people got a lot of harmless fun trying to throw themselves out of joint.

Today, by abandoning themselves to the same rhythm, the children and grandchildren of those same people-and maybe some of the people themselves-can recapture, briefly, a day long gone. At the very least, they get plenty of exercise.

POISED on tiptoe, with shoulders high, Ann and Bob wait for downbeat to start their hip-swinging routine.

CLASS digs into the Charleston with abandon. Experts term it a "genuine American folk dance."

What Makes

Here are facts behind that everyday ailment—

About 2,000 years ago, an Assyrian wise man wrote: "If the patient suffers from cough . . . brew together roses and mustard in purified oil, fill a tube with it and blow it into his nostrils. Thereafter, he shall drink several times beer of the first quality; thus he will recover."

No doubt that treatment pleased many patients and perhaps it did the trick. Indeed, a little whisky "for medicinal purposes" still is prescribed for some coughs. But fortunately for all of us, doctors no longer rely solely on that kind of remedy.

New knowledge and improved drugs have, for the most part, replaced those old home cures. As a result, there is less discomfort and danger than ever from coughs. To understand how the drugs work, you first have to understand what makes a cough—that remarkable little body explosion, almost as common as breathing—and why.

Writing in the journal, Modern Medicine, Dr. Andrew L. Banyai of Mar-

The pie crust you stir and roll

No cutting in shortening. Pour Wesson Oil for tender, flaky pie crust every time

No digging out shortening. Stir four simple ingredients together—light, delicate Wesson Oil, milk, flour and salt. No messy solid shortening to dig out or cut in. Wesson pours to measure. Easy and accurate. Stirs in quickly. Even beginners make flaky, tender pie crust the Stir-N-Roll way with Wesson Oil.

No messy floured board. Roll dough neatly between waxed papers. You'll like the way Wesson makes pie crust—just wait till you taste it. Pure, mild Wesson Oil keeps all of its fresh delicacy at hot, pie-baking temperatures. So your Stir-N-Roll pie crust has delicate, flaky texture and delicate flavor.

STIR-N-ROLL PIE CRUST

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, such as Gold Medal

- *1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup Wesson Oil
- 3 tablespoons cold milk

Heat oven to 475° F. (very hot). Mix flour and salt. Measure Wesson Oil and milk into same cup (but don't stir). Pour all at once into flour. Stir until mixed. Press into ball. Flatten slightly. Place between 2 sheets of waxed paper, 12" square. Roll out gently to edges of paper. Dampen table top to prevent slipping. Peel off top paper. If dough tears, mend it without moistening. Lift paper and pastry by top corners. Place paper-sideup in 8- or 9-inch pie pan. Peel off paper. Ease into pan. Flute edge. Prick pastry thoroughly with fork. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Cool before filling.

*If you use self-rising flour, omit sall; bake at 425° F.

Checolate Whipped Cream Pie. Fill baked pastry shell with your favorite chocolate filling (use a prepared filling, if desired). Chill in refrigerator. Spread top generously with whipped cream. Sprinkle with crushed peppermint stick candy. Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

People Cough?

and news of drugs your doctor prescribes that can relieve it

quette University (Milwaukee) says:

City living, with its dust, smoke and soot, causes virtually unavoidable "normal" coughing. Exposure to cold air can cause cough and so can emotional disturbance (by interfering with muscles to the windpipe).

On the other side of the ledger, cough can signal all sorts of illnessfrom a common cold to heart disease. These are the coughs which concern the dactor most because they can complicate a disease and make you feel progressively miserable. A cough neglected and untreated can cause hemorrhage, vomiting, loss of appetite, exhaustion, rise in temperature, pain and even an occasional broken rib or hernia.

Why do you cough? The answers lie in a remarkable chain reaction in your body which involves electrical "messages," a "shot" and an "escalator system"in your bronchial tubes. Let's look at these elements more closely.

How a Cough Is Triggered

It all starts with an irritation, brought on by whatever cause, in your breathing apparatus (windpipe, bronchial tubes, etc.). The irritated area sends a "message" to the "cough center." This is the scientist's term for a group of cells in the brain, located just below and behind the ears, which is believed to "trigger" coughs.

The cough center sends another. nerve impulse to the windpipe, which obediently opens to take in breath. The larynx (voice box) closes. Meanwhile the diaphragm muscle beneath the lung and other muscles contract, placing the air in your lungs under pressure.

Then, suddenly, comes the "shot." The diaphragm relaxes; the stomach and lower organs move upward toward the rib cage, adding to the air pressure in the lungs; the voice box opens-and the air explodes through it. All this, of course, takes only a few seconds.

Doctors talk about two types of cough, productive and unproductive. We can call them good and bad coughs. The difference is simply that in a good cough you bring up-and get rid ofphlegm, liquid or some other material. In a bad cough, you don't.

Here's where the cough "escalator" and some of those improved drugs come in. Actually, the escalator is a set of smooth muscles arranged in circles in the bronchial tubes. These muscles move upward in rhythmic waves-each wave taking 25 seconds, with a fivesecond interval in between.

When the escalator is working, phlegm is carried up rather easily and you have a good, productive cough. When spasm resulting from disease or inhaled irritants interferes with the muscles, the escalator slows down and you get an unproductive cough.

But today doctors can dip into their black bags and come up with drugs to relieve that spasm and get the escalator working again. They also have drugs to thin out the phlegm-that is, loosen the cough-and still others to suppress the cough altogether. Here are the cough medicines your doctor is most likely to prescribe for you:

A drug called epinephrine and other closely related drugs are especially helpful in relieving muscle spasm and getting the escalator to work again. Epinephrine is usually taken in the form of aerosol inhalations. Other drugs-ephedrine and aminophyllinealso are widely used to relax the bronchial muscles.

To loosen the cough, doctors prescribe the so-called expectorants. These include ammonium chloride, ammonium carbonate, etc.

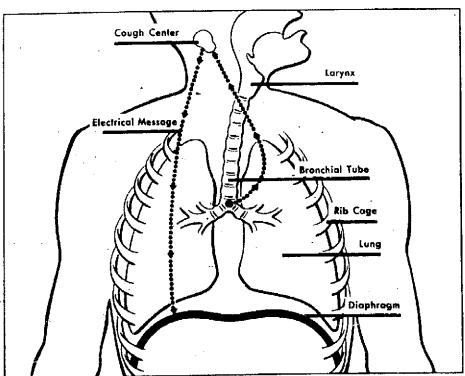

For some coughs, ACTH and cortisone produce dramatic relief: For others, those old home remedieswhisky, hot lemonade and steam inhalation-still are prescribed.

These drugs and treatments can make a bad cough a good cough.

However, there is still another group of medicines to which the doctor can turn. These are the cough suppressors. To understand how they work, you have to recall the explosion of a cough. It is triggered by the cough center in the brain. In effect, the cough suppressors work to put the cough center to sleep, so it will not trigger as many coughs.

Thus, the suppressors contain small amounts of narcotics: codeine, opium, etc. Today doctors also use derivatives of synthetic narcotics, because they believe they are safer than other narcotic-containing cough medicines. One of these, trade-named Romilar, is said to be the safest yet.

Armed with all those drugs, doctors can safely contradict a 17th-century poet who wrote: "Love and a cough cannot be hid." Not only can a cough be "hid" today, but in a great many cases it can be stopped cold.

COUGH IS PRODUCT OF THESE ORGANS

Irritation in a bronchial tube or other passage sends a message (arrow moving up) to the brain's cough center. In seconds, air pressure in lung brings cough "explosion."

NOW IT'S EAST LONG BEACH

When Zaferia Changed Its Name

By Helen Smith

IKE AN irritating little flea nipping the flanks of a growing puppy-that was the relation of Zaferia to Long Beach at the turn of the century.

But what was Zaferia, you may

Well, it was a whistle-stop and is now known as East Long Beach.

It all started about 1904 when Pacific Electric Railway built its Newport Branch Line, cutting diagonally across what was then acres and acres of wild mustard and jackrabbits, and chose the curious name for the depot at Obispo and E. Ana-neim. It means "little village" in Spanish.

The cluster of farm houses soon became a thriving little community. And also a source of annoyance to the big city to the ZAFERIA was "wel" Long Beach was avowedly "dry." It didn't take thirsty beach residents long to discover that by going north to Willowville where the Earl Daugherty Field was located and thence east across the open fields to Zaferia, they could enjoy the forbidden pleasures of the saloon and winery located there. Fishing parties headed for Anaheim Landing frequently fueled up at Zaferia and then had "one for the road" on the return

Regardless of the opinion held the dry element in Long Beach, Zaferia prospered and by 1913 over a score of business houses and industries were located there including lumber yards, planing mills, grocery stores, a general store, theater, post office and blacksmith shop.

But the tempo of life was still leisurely. Youngsters from the numerous Mexican families un-hurriedly pushed little carts through the dusty streets vending homemade hot tamales and enchiladas. Residents had time for weekly pienics at the shady grove of towering cucaplytus trees growing at 11th and Obispo from where could be seen an eye-filling view of the unbroken sweep of countryside to the Whittier Hills and farther to the Sierra Madre range.

Attracted by "country living," more and more families moved into the district bounded by Loma and Temple Aves, on the east and west, State St. on the north and 11th St. on the south. Real estate men brought busloads of prospective homeowners everyday and also gave them a free lunch as an added inducement to buy. The Pacific Elec-tric linked the village to downtown Long Beach by laying track down Broadway and north on Redondo Ave. Twenty round trip tickets cost only $1 and many families took advantage of this for Sunday excursions.

INDUSTRY BOOMED in Za-Factories, bakeries and manufacturing plants moved in. W. Jay Burgin, founder of one of the oldest contracting firms in Long Beach, started business in 1907 at 1100 Redondo Ave. He built hundreds of municipal structures and private homes in the almost 50 years of operation. The prosperous concern is still in the same location under the direction of his son, Bartley Bur-

Oliver S. Peacock's real estate office was located at Anaheim and Obispo. in a favorable relationship to the Pacific Electric depot situated nearby.

All through these early years the dry forces of Long Beach did not give up in their determination to reform Zaferia and just prior to 1920, backed by the more strait-laced element, the colorful little community was annexed to Long Beach.

They set Labor Day, Sept. 6, 1920, for a bang-up christening ceremony to change the name to East Long Beach. Citizens were urged to "clean up, paint up and plant a tree" and make their homes generally shipshape. George Clay, market proprietor, and Darnell's, easter manufac-turers, offered trees at a nominal sum to aid the cause. The Pacific Electric was alerted and asked to cooperate by painting out Zaferia on the depot and replacing it with the new name.

And so it ended. To the accompaniment of a brass band and with countless sandwiches and watermelons consumed in honor of the occasion, the town with the unusual name and remarkable personality was no more.

Cowboy-film actor Johnny Carpenter (right) spends many hours teaching blind students in horsemanship classes.

Blind horsemen learn to saddle and harness their own mounts unassisted, guided only by the sense of touch.

Sightless Saddlemates

By Douglas Nelson Rhodes

THE YOUNG MAN astride the prancing jumper patted the animal's neck reassuringly. "A little higher, boy," he cautioned his mount soothingly. "Another six inches will clear the hurdle easily this time." Then, at a touch of the rider's quirt, the horse made his fast approach to the barrier, sailing over the bar cleanly. "How was that one, Johnny?" called the rider to a bystander clad in gaudy cowboy regalia, who watched the maneuver with close attention.

"Nice jump," applauded Johnny Carpenter. "I figure you're about ready to join the Rhythm Riders now. Dismount and I'll lead you to the tack-room."

A few minutes later the horseman, now afoot, left the riding ring and stepped out onto the busy street. In his hand, instead of a riding quirt, he held a white cane—familiar badge of the JOHNNY CARPENTER, film portrayer of rugged outdoor roles in scores of "horse operas," is a cowboy with a mission unique in the history of cinemaland. He conducts the world's only riding school for the blind at his riding stables in Hollywood. Though far from being wealthy, Carpenter invests all his surplus cash in more horses and special equipment, yet never accepts even a dollar from his handicapped student horsemen. It's all free, an offer he proclaims in frequent spectacular newspaper ads.

Since 1944 Carpenter has put more than 100 sightless adults and children in riding boots and taught them not only to ride well but to take high hurdles without fear and perform intricate mounted drills on horseback. The magnificent performances of his Blind Rhythm Riders—a mounted drill team that compares favorably with crack cavalry outfits—has won the group a score of trophies and citations in competition with unhandicapped riders while participating in parades and rodeos all over the west.

THE RHYTHM RIDERS in their colorful uniforms created a sensation at their first public appearance in 1947 when they rode in the famed Santa Claus Lane parade along Hollywood Blvd. The following year they performed in the Los Angeles Sheriff's Rodeo before 100,000 spectators and received a citation of merit from Gov. Earl Warren. The same year they won top honors at the Long Beach Mounted Police Show, Since 1949 they have copped 17 other honors in three states. Carpenter is especially proud of the fact that every award was won on the basis of superior horsemanship alone, without particular allowance made for the team members' sightlessness.

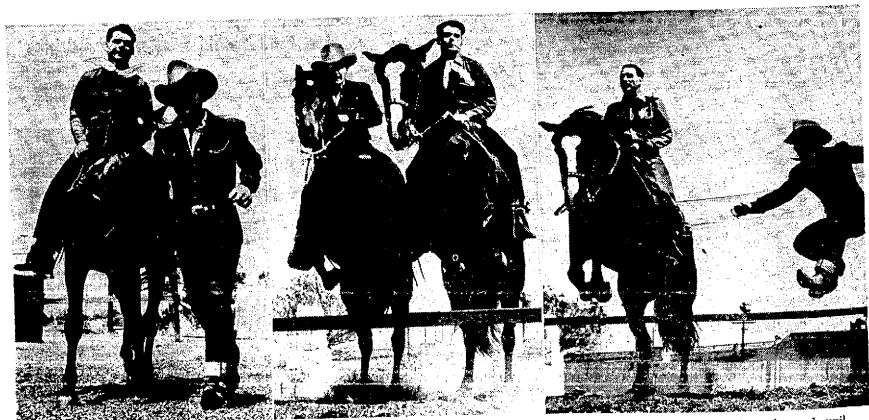

Unusual proficiency of the Rhythm Riders attracted a major film producer's attention and the group was signed immediately for an outdoor epic, "The Rim Rocker." The movie, in addition to featuring the drill team, stars Carpenter, as does still another production now in preparation. The latter, titled "The Fighting Stallion," is the story of an amazing "seeing eye horse," trained by the cowboy netor.

CARPENTER conceived his unusual idea of teaching the blind to ride horseback while he was recovering from near-fatal injuries suffered in an auto accident. During the several painwracked years he spent in hospital beds Carpenter tried to find an interest to raise his spirits to a point where life again would hold the same promise of adventure and service it once had, "Every minute seemed an eternity," the actor recalls, "and as soon as I was able to be about I headed for my father's ranch and took to the saddle to try to wipe the memory of the hospital ordeal from my mind. Soon I found I was riding my own way back to health, but I still searched for some way I could help other despairing folks back to a faith and hope for a brighter future. Only thing 1 knew thoroughly was horsemanship, but this might be too hazardous for physically crippled persons. Then I thought of the blind and I knew I'd found my work."

First, Carpenter worked out a careful program and soon his idea began taking tangible form.

These riding classes for sightless horsemen have led Carpenter to another equally unusual career which holds great promise for the indomitable cowboy. top-flight horse trainer, Johnny is developing specially tutored riding horses for blind riders. The first class of "Braille Seeing Eye Horses" has been graduated after a year's intensive training, and other classes are under way. "These horses perform the same nid to their riders as seeing eye dogs do to blind pedestrians," he explains. "A trained sightless rider, mounted on a trained seeing eye horse, can ride anywhere, any time with complete confidence and with no more danger than you would incur in a stroll around the block."

Johnny Carpenter (left) runs along beside rider and mount as a new student learns confidence in the saddle. Next (center) both teacher and pupil take to horseback and a low hurdle is tried. In the final lesson (right) rider learns jumping. Carpenter runs along but not one rider has fallen.

Harnessing the Wind

Sails scooping up the wind, two sleek yachts, one hull down behind a giant swell, come swooping over the sea.

By Jack B. Kemmerer

Small matter to some devoted men that nuclear power may move the ships of the future — they'll still be true to a love of sail and the art of sailmaking. An example of the modern sailmaker's loft can be seen in Costa Mesa, where Fred Lorenz, a master of his craft, reckons the value of good canvas, well-sewn and bent to the rigging of a fast sailing hull. There's far more to his art than sowing strips of canvas together. His is among the oldest of fine arts. Many persons know of it, but few know about it. Ancients knew the methods of sail, empleying many fabrics. Moderns use cotton duck, the successor to flax. Cotton, while being stiff and hard to handle when wet, retains its shape far better than the softer flax. But still, it is a fabric and is subject to many short comings — even just between different brands of a like quality — and these the sailmaker must know to quality as a true craftsman. A ripped seam in a fast racing sail might easily lose a yacht and even the lives of crewmen. Through the medium of pictures on these pages, let's follow Fred Lorenz through some of the steps of crafting a large mainsail to power a sea-going yacht Sail again goes on floor and handwork begins. Raw edges are turned, hem sewn on outside of sail and reinforced.

Fred Lorenz studies sail pattern of 162-foot yacht.

After the size of the sail has been determined from the naval architect's sail plan, pattern is marked on floor.

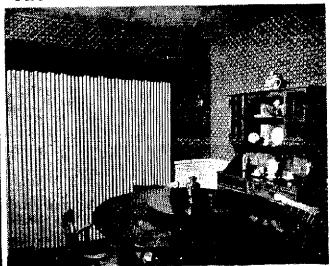

Canvas of new sail is spread and cut, to fit pattern on floor of the loft. Sails are not made from whole cloth but strips 28 inches wide are sewn together.

In olden days, all sails were hand-sewn. Modern machines handle all of the large jobs today, cuiting costs. Heavy duty, double needle machines shown.

The Giant Wisteria

By Mark McMillin

CATED at the foot of Mount Wilson in the village of Sierra Madre, the world's largest wisteria vine has burst into bloom.

This vine, transplanted from a gallon bucket in 1893, now covers 42,000 square feet, has 40 blooms to the square foot, with 50 petals to each blossom. Well over a million blooms are produced each year — a world's record in the flower kingdom!

The vine now covers two large bouses, and has reached the top of an 80-foot oak tree at the edge of the wisteria garden. Innumerable trellises and arbors also help support the magnificent vine. Underneath are placed picnic tables and easy chairs where visitors may enjoy the amazing summer coolness. Scientists explaining the great difference between the garden temperature and that of the outdoors, say that the huge vine expels more than a ton of water day, thus lowering the temperature several degrees. Also, since the vine and blossoms completely cover the ground, no sunshine is admitted. Though water is run during the entire night and day, the roots are so thirsty that none of the water remains on top of the ground.

Since 1913 the wisteria garden has been open to visitors, who marvel at the widespreading plant, the long, attractive paths completely shielded from the sun, and at the thousands of beautiful lavender blossoms. In recent years new plants have been started, and now the lavender blooms are intermingled with pink and white ones, thus enhancing the beauty of the display.

BOTANISTS MARVEL at the growth rate of the vine. Earlier owners used all scientific means possible to foster growth. They hired several gardeners to give the vine hypodermic injections of Vitamin B1. Tons of fertilizer were poured around the base of the plant. But now the present owners feel that the rich virgin soil of the foothills provides sufficient food for normal growth. Strangely enough, the vine makes its greatest growth after a cold winter followed by a sudden hot spell, and also produces the greatest number of blossoms under these same conditions. In 1949, by actual measurement, the vine grew fully 26 inches in a 48-hour period.

Tourists wishing to see the famous vine are advised to combine the trip to Sierra Madre with a visit also to Mount Wilson, site of the famous 100-inch telescope and astronomical observatory, both of which may be seen in one day. The vine is located just 17 miles from Los Angeles, on Highway 66. Then

TELEVISION Television for Your Breakfast

Careful planning and presentation, despite Dave Garroway's relaxed manner, has made the early-morning TV show, "Today," a nation-wide audience pleaser.

By Terry Vernon

CONTACH TELEVISION at 7 o'clock in the MORN-ING? . . . why nobody in their right mind would think of such a thing. You must have a hole in your head!"

That was about the reaction accorded the idea of putting a show on at an hour when people are getting out of bed, getting dressed and ready for work or school, eating breakfast . . . everything was against the very idea of early morning TV.

Yet two shows have been on for many, many months and both have all the sponsors they can handle and in addition, they have viewers.

Dave Garroway's "Today" from New York was the pioneer in the field and started out some three years ago in the East. Now we get the full two hours via "hot" kinescope each day on (4) from 7 to 9 a. m. The newer "Panorama Pacific" is on (2) at the same hour and is seen in San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

One of the stars of "Today" is J. Fred Muggs, a chimpanzee, who has traveled all over the world.

"We knew that the show had a big audience across the nation but just didn't believe that there were that many people finding time to watch us at 7 a. m.," said Garroway. "Over 179,000 names were submitted and the winner was Alexander B. Spies of Baltimore, who picked 'Phoebe B. Beebe,"

In the period that "Today" has been on the air it has done remote telecasts from all over the nation, including some Coast originations.

"Miss Universe" girls made appearances on "Today" while en route to Long Beach last summer and will be seen again this July on the show.

The local competition is "Panorama Pacific" and has been on the air for more than a year . and most people predicted it would last only a few weeks.

VETERAN RADIO disc jockey Red Rowe was asked to play host and he agreed with some trepidation. He had his own dally radio show on KFWB and was happy in the work,

"Panorama Pacific" hasn't gone for the big-shot guests too much, but has had such interesting things as a sheep-herding demonstration, the landing of a helicopter in the studio parking lot to take a TV camera up for a look at the city, an Indian fakir, an Army tank, fire trucks, bagpipe bands, a train, an elephant, spiders; snakes, alligators

Listerine Antiseptic Stops Bad Breath 4 Times Better Than Tooth Paste!

Germs.—The Major Cause of Mouth Odor

Far and away the most common cause of bad breath is fermentation of proteins which are always present in the mouth. This fermentation is caused by germs and research shows that your breath stays sweeter longer, the more you reduce germs in the mouth.

Listerine Antiseptic Kills Germs by Millions

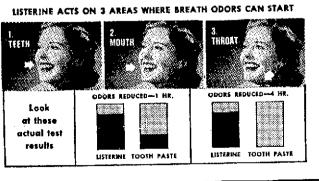

Listerine Antiseptic kills germs by millions on contact. Test after test has shown that even fifteen minutes after gargling with Listerine Antiseptic, germs on tooth, mouth, and throat surfaces were reduced up to 96.7%; one hour afterward, as much as 80%.

No Tooth Paste Kills Germs Like This

Tooth paste with the aid of a tooth brush is an effective method of oral hygiene. It depends largely on the mechanical and masking methods of removing unpleasant mouth odors. But no tooth paste gives you the proven Listerine Antiseptic method —banishing bad breath with instant isuper-efficient germ-killing action.

Listerine Antiseptic Acts on Many Surfaces

Listerine Antiseptic kills millions of germs on tooth, mouth, and throat surfaces. It kills disease-producing germs as well as many types of odor-producing germs. No tooth paste offers proof like this of killing germs that cause bad breath.

The Dream of Pedro

Pedro Alvarado toiled a lifetime to make a living with his silver mine. His son struck it rich . . . temporarily.

ON A HIGH RIDGE, a short distance from the beautiful little city of Parral, lived a poor Mexican miner by the name of Pedro Alvarado. For many years he had worked his near-by little silver mine, which he called La Esmeralda (the Emerald).

The vein was narrow and lean and the rock was hard but Pedro by an occasional shipment of ore to the smelter was able to keep his family in tortillas and frijoles. His mining equipment was meager. It consisted of a single jack (a miner's hammer), a few steel drills, a wooden windlass and a rope and bucket with which he hauled the ore to the surface. After it was hauled to the top of the shaft it had to be sorted, sacked and sent to the smelter.

Pedro worked until he was a very old man, bent and gnarled from years of toil. In later years he was helped by his son, also named Pedro, who was growing into a strong young man. The shaft was getting deeper all the time and there was needed a young hand on the windlass.

Finally the old man took to his bed from which he was to rise no more. One day he called his son to his side.

"My son," he said. "Last night I had a dream. A vision appeared to me and said:

"'Don't give up La Esmeralda. There is rich ore below. Go deeper, deeper, deeper." A few days later the old man died.

Pedro believed in his father's vision and kept on going deeper on the little quartz vein, down in the shaft. Day after day, month after month, he toiled, just making a bare living for himself and the rest of the family. Then one day there came a change. The little vein started to widen out and the ore appeared richer and from the next shipment to the smelter he received more money than he had ever scen.

IN A FEW MONTHS the little vein had widened out into what was to become, at that time, one of the richest mines in all Mexico. Pedro and his miners — he had plenty of help now — were taking out chunks of native silver as big as your head. His returns from the smelter ran into five figures.

Pedro started to spend money like water and he was robbed of what he didn't spend. Jewelry salesmen sold him a hundred thousand dollars worth of diamonds at one time. Most of which he gave away to his lady friends. Pedro remained a bache-

Parral which occupied almost a city block. He gave magnificent parties and all the elite were there. His stables were filled with the finest of Arabian horses and the saddles were heavily decorated with silver and gold by the best saddlemakers in Mexico. He had men build a beautiful parquet floor in the shaft house of La Esmeralda and gave bailes (dances) for his miners, where wine and cognac and mescal flowed like water and the sound of music and singing could be heard a mile away.

Like all good things that sometimes must come to an end - a climax came to Pedro Alvarado and La Esmeralda. The vein that was so rich gradually petered out and narrowed down to its original width and Pedro was back where he started. It is said that a vein of ore is less predictable than a woman's whim. Gone was all his money and his fancy friends. They deserted him like frogs from a dried up pond. Then the final blow came. Silver was demonetized and dropped from one dollar and a quarter to fifty cents an ounce. No longer could the poor little vein be mined at a Periro moved into a single room in his beautiful home. He took out a pane of glass and put through it an old slove pipe that connected with his little wood slove on which he cooked his meals.

ONE DAY he was walking down one of the streets of Parral on which ran a little horse-drawn ear, the city's only public transportation system. Pedro signaled for the driver to stop but the signal went unheeded and the little car ambled on. In the eyes of the driver, no longer was Pedro Alvarado worth stopping for.

Pedro whipped out a gun and the bullet whistled over the driver's head. The little car came to a stop. "Pedro," a bystandar asked,

"Pedro," a bystandar asked, "are you crazy? You might have killed the driver!"

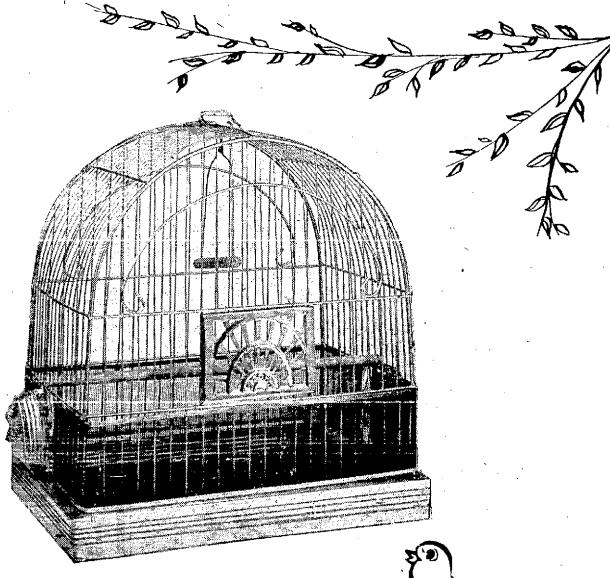

"I might have been loce at one time," Pedro said, shaking his head sadly, "but not any more."

A physical therapist administers treatment to a youth ful patient in the whirlpool equipment at Casa Colina

Warm Springs of the Southland

By Aubrey B. Haines

Eleanor Smith, the American Mother of the Year, was asked what she would like best, she called for the jackpot — a home for crippled children. As a result Casa Colina stands today overlooking Chino. To it from thousands of miles away come patients of three and four months up to 21 years of age.

Infantile paralysis victims predominate. But cerebral pulsy, arthritic, tuberculosis of the hip and spine, postoperative and other orthopedic cases are accepted. To date more than 800 youngsters have been treated, 85 per cent of whom have been declared complete recoveries.

Mrs. Smith's unstinting devotion to this nome went back to her own childhood, when for six or seven years she was a victim of poliomyelitis. Confined to a wheel chair and inching her way along on crutches, she could never actually forget the suffering and limitations of the paralysis. She married and raised six children of her own. Then she took in five or six other youngsters to care for, serving mean while industriously as a leader among Girl Scouts. All this qualified her to become a candidate for Mother of the Year.

ON DEC. 19, 1936, Casa Colina was incorporated, but the formal opening was delayed till October of 1938. At that time President Roosevelt wrote that he hoped the home would become

In the new polic cases the hot pack method is used until the muscle spasms have subsided. From there the youngster is placed in the Hubbard tub, where the agitated hot water still continues the heat treatment but where he can begin to use the muscles himself. Or he is put into the therapcutic pool, where he can learn to swim and begin to walk in the water before he tries to walk outside the pool.

When the youngster is improved enough that he can do things for himself, the occupational therapist takes charge of him. He plays games, paints things, and learns to weave on small or large looms. Working on leather and copper, too, he makes belts and lanyards. Learning to make things improves him psychologically, for he is given the feeling of accomplishment.

Desert Tea Kettle

By Spencer Crump

SPRING has arrived on the desert wastelands surrounding the Salton Sea.

The green of wild shrubs is forming a pleasant contrast to the yellow sands and the desert tortoises, coming out of hibernation, are creeping through the dry arroyos.

Swarms of birds hover over the blue waters of the inland ocean. Descrt rabbits hop here and there among the multicolored rocks.

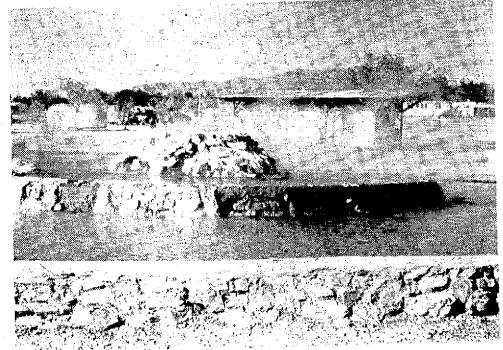

Spring is a great time on the desert and the outdoorsman can spend days exploring the hidden canyons, palm oases and side roads to points of interest.

One of the most interesting side spots to visit is Hot Mineral Spa, a little settlement which came into being as a result of a prank by Mother Nature.

To reach the spa, drive south along State Hwy. 111 along the northeastern side of the Salton Sea and turn off to Hot Mineral Spa about two miles south of the Southern Pacific section head-quarters of "Pope." A five-mile A five-mile Efforts to stop the hot water were in vain, for the minerals destroyed the casing and valves.

Story of the Hula

學的物學可能的學術學學學學

The mambo may be sweeping the world as a dance craze, but long after it's been forgotten, the lovely Hawaiian hula will be swaying on and on.

Northwest Orient Airlines, featuring Airventures to Hawaii, reports it has yet to find a visitor to the islands who didn't try his hand—and hips—at the hula. Because everybody does the hula in Hawaii - the very young, the very old, the businessman, the housewife, the tourist.

The hula (not hula-hula), the native dance of the islands, is a graceful combination of poetry, music and pantomime. The dances tell of war, love and the customs of the people.

In ancient times the hula was religious service performed only by a trained group of men. The honor was considered too great for women. When girls eventually were allowed to hula, they had to study for years before they were allowed to per-form in public.

In early days 14 native instruments were used for accompaniment. Today only three have survived—the "ipu" (double calabash), the "uli uli" (a feathertufted gourd rattle), and the "pu'ili" (bamboo rattle). They are used with ukuleles and steel gui-

Hula dancers are noted for their "soft" hands. Their flexible fingers weave gracefully to describe the story of each dance.

Caribbean Cruise Popular

An interesting development in the customarily heavy Caribbean vacation travel is reported this year with a marked increase in extended trip's throughout the Although travel to such favorite places as Cuba, Jamaica, Haiti and Puerto Rico continues to grow, more people are enlarging the circle — so to speak — with a big dip down through the tropical lower islands of the West Indies group.

Ask Mr. Foster Travel Service has made up a series of itineraries showing how the delightful sights and vacation areas of the West Indies can be fitted into a week's or two weeks' trip. One of the most popular of the extended programs - well within a two weeks' vacation tures Puerto Rico, Haiti, Jamaica, along with Trinidad, Curacao in The Netherlands West Indies, plus Antigua and Martinique in the Leeward-Windward group.

Other examples include a seven-day Jamaica tour, seven days in Puerto Rico, a three-day Virgin Islands extension, and the popular 14-day "Circle of the Caribbean" taking in Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Jamaica and Cuba, the latler going for $402.40 from Miami. Other rates are from $153, out of Miami, to $555 from Miami for the extended "Outer Circle" Tour.

Caribbean itineraries are described in a booklet, available at the local "Ask Mr. Foster" office, with further suggestions for longer as well as made-to-order trips.

There is hardly any use for dinner clothes in Europe. Unless you are spending a lot of time in London. Carrying all that weight with you just isn't worth it for a one-night shipboard splash.

This would not apply, however, to the Lurline or American President Lines ships running to Hawaii. You can use dinner clothes in Honolulu.

"I have heard that the Gulf of Mexico area in Mexico is too hot and uncomfortable in July to contemplate. Does this apply to Guaymas or other beach towns?'

I think so. I am not much for tropic coastal towns anyway though.

So maybe this is not the best judgment. You could try it for awhile as several good towns lie right on the new highway: Mazatlan where the Freeman Hotel is cool if you get one of the top rooms. Also San Blas, below Mazatian and off the highway.

traditional "Moby Dick" manner, with harpoons and whaleboats.

According to officials of Trans World Airlines, which serves Portugal with four flights weekly from the United States, the Azores may be made a convenient stopover for a few days on a trip to Europe. The winter months in the Azores and the Iberian peninsula are balmy and pleasant and trans-Atlantic air fares are at their lowest. TWA round-trip fare on first-class flights to Lisbon, on which sleeper berths are available, is $650.80 during the winter thriftseason. On low-fare Sky Tourist flights this fare is only $435.80, round-trip.

THE AZORES is one of the few places left in the world where sperm whales are still hunted by men putting out from shore in small boats.

Azores fishermen, one of the hardiest breed of men in the world, kill and process the sperm whale catch by the same methods used when whaling was first introduced in these Portuguese islands in the 18th Century, and they are quite primitive as well as picturesque.

Groups of fishermen join in "whaling societies." Each group is equipped with several whaleboats - wooden dories propelled with oars. Guards are posted by each group atop the hills near the seacoast, where they maintain a daily vigil for any signs of whales at sea. When they sight them they ring a loud bell to summon the fishermen-most of whom are also farmers - to their boats. When they hear the signal they throw down their hoes and plows and head for the beach, where the dories are always kept ready.

AMID MUCH SHOUTING, the whaleboats, called "canoas," slide down thick plants into the water. Then the cadenced oars move vigorously as the boat skims across the seas. The lookout tower guard puts out a red or white flag in the appropriate direction to guide the oarsmen. Once the whale it dead the oarsmen laboriously tow it back to shore, there to cut up its meat and blubber and boil the oil in crude iron pots, heated over open fires on the beach.

Although the Azores has never particularly sought a tourist industry, there are some good — and inexpensive — hotels in Ponta Delgada and the hotsprings resort of Furnas. #### Kitchen Planning

In early American times, the kitchen was the most important room in the house. In addition to being a place where the meals were cooked and eaten, it was known for its livability. Western families are returning to the notion that there's no need to keep out of the kitchen; that, in fact, it's a nice place to visit with mother or the hostess while she prepares the meal. And, of course, it's the ultimate in efficiency.

ลาษ facts These brought out in "Sunset Ideas for Western Kitchens" (Lane Pub. Co., $1.50), a brand new book for those planning to remodel their old kitchen or build a new one. R contains a wealth of material on kitchen planning, layouts of 59 beautiful kitchens, ideas for kitchen storage, pass-throughs, snack bars, barbecues, kitchen "offices," and kitchen laundries. All these ideas fit in admirably with the western way of life. And each kitchen is fitted out with the most modern advances in fix-

What's for Easter? Ham, of Course!

By Mildred K. Flanary

AGAIN it's almost Easter, an especially thoughtful, happy day for each of us.

While the religious significance of the day is uppermost in our minds, our thoughts also turn to new bonnets and to fitting menus for the occasion . . . and it isn't too early to begin thinking about this Easter parade. Not new hats and fresh white gloves that make the custume eligible for next Sunday's procession, but the dinner that will grace the table way a happier, wiser person. We have asked her to provide our Easter menu, and here it is:

and carry out the traditions of Easter. Ham, of course, is the meat selection, for it has been traditional as festive meat since festivals were given to the Goddess of Spring, long, long before our own Christian Easter.

EW PEOPLE are ever fully aware of the tremendous potential inherent in the newer tract houses.

In many of these developments the keenest designers and architects in the country are called upon for their planning. And so the houses - sharp, functional and handsome (individually as well as collectively) - represent

SOUTHLAND HOMES

Modern, With an Oriental Flair

Bryan Waller and John Hersey have stressed the casual mode of living in their home, and the theme is mirrored in this view of their well-styled living room.

products of the design world's most astute talent.

The fabulous results that are possible when such ingredients as a well planned house, well situated lot and ingenuity are put together may be cited in the home of two bachelors, Bryan Waller and John Hersey.

Their house, light-hearted contemporary dwelling, is located at 3268 Stevely Ave. in Lakewood Rancho Estates.

Waller and Hersey, whose professions depend upon aesthetic sagacity and judgment, have decorated their house with a flair that brings out all that is best in the architecture and does much to prove that well chosen contemporary is perhaps the most exciting, functional and least conceited furniture of all for young homemakers and young houses.

The house is striking for its absolute simplicity. Although it is termed modern, its architecture has roots deep in the past. Its post and beam construction has been indigenous to the Japanese for centuries. Only recently have we come to appreciate the beauty of a house that makes no pretense of hiding its structural properties.

The board and batten exterior is painted a soft lime with faccia trim painted dark green. A brown wood fence encloses the yard and draws it close to the house, presenting a pleasing sight from the street without exposing any of the inner courtyard to passers-by.

THE SUNNY FOREPART of the court is planned with glossy ground - hugging strawberry plants that form a bed around an ornamental tree. The other section, the patio that lies just outside the north wall of the living room, is surfaced with rough textured concrete scored off with redwood liners. An interesting array of outdoor furniture, torchiere lamps and tropical plantings testifies to the fact that as much thought was spent outside this house as went into the interior.

Cognizant of the fact that impressions of a home are greatly dependent upon the point of entry, Waller and Hersey decided to shift the "front" door from the west side of the house (which faces toward the street) to the north side.

Two glass doors open from the living room to the exterior. With conventional logic, one must presume that the first the one nearest the street - be intended for the entry. But Waller and Hersey (who share the conviction that convention has a way of doing more harm than good in many such cases) purposefully set about planting shrubs in front of the west door. thereby subtly steering their guests through the patio to the other door.

A stroll through this lovely and serene garden to the door makes for an impressive entrance -- one filled with expectancy and drama. And the interior of the house merits this build-up.

BEYOND THE DOOR is an opaque glass partition that provides a simple but effective screen for the kitchen. Reminiscent of a Japanese shoji screen, its Oriental quality is further heightened by an enormous cylindrical paper lantern that hangs before it, suspended from the ceiling.

A low library table composed simply of a laquered solid oak door supported by four tubular metal legs stands under the hanging temple lantern and offers its generous surface for the display of books, magazines and flower arrangements.

Here is a house that truly gives its structural components top billing. The massive ceiling beams have been painted a rich black-brown that contrasts dramatically with the paler bues of the walls. The exposed rafters, that rise to their highest pitch over an enormous central supporting beam, create an obvious and exciting rhythm as they rise and fall over rooms separated only by partitions.

A wail-to-wall cotton carpet of rich mocha covers the floor and is wonderfully complementary to the sectional sofa upholstered in a pumpkin-colored fabric sparked with metallic thread. Open-mesh jute draperies interwoven with silver add considerable textural interest to the floor-deep windows.

Over the simple red brick facade of the fireplace hangs an interesting painting framed in chunky and weathered segments of railroad ties. The subject, an Egyptian head in profile, was executed on leather in oils by the unpredictable artist. Dusso.

THE KITCHEN has the long and narrow proportions of a galley, but its narrowness is belied by the flood of sunshine it receives from the floor-to-ceiling glass panels that run all along (Continued on Page 36.) SEE BILL HARLOW FOR FINE

THE GREAT WESTERN ARMS COMPANY of South Gate will present an ivory handle, gold inlaid and beautifully engraved .38-caliber six-gun to President Eisenhower when the engraving is completed. Carl Courts, a Long Beach engraver, is doing all of the designing, engraving and inlay work, and his name will appear on the bottom of the handle.

Carl Courts, an engraver of exceptional skill, maintains his workbench in the rear of a Long Beach gun store. He has been engraving firearms of all types for 12 years, and his engraving tools have carved designs on more than 500 guns. He estimates that if all of his past work could be spread out, it would easily cover two large automobiles from bumper to bumper. Guns bearing his designs and delicate handiwork have found their way into gun cabinets belonging to actor John cluding a special vise of his own design. The vise is constructed to allow a full 180-degree tilt in any direction. Automatic machinery, according to Carl, will never be a substitute for a skilled craftsman who has a feeling for design, and is equipped with sharp tools. Examples of his work are convincing points in favor of his beliefs.

WHEN CARL is "roughing out" designs, he chats with customers and personal friends who visit him, but when working on the final cutting, he wears powerful eye loops, gets very closeto the object being engraved, and becomes oblivious to even the loudest noises. Often he becomes so absorbed in the work he forgets to eat.

Prices start at $25. There is ne upward limit. Cost is determined by the amount of engraving, the area to be engraved, and the inlay work desired. Many customers want gold or silver inlay to high light some feature of the engraving. Plating or solid gold is used, which of course, depends upon the desires of the customer. President Eisenhower's revolver will have gold work on the cylinder and barrel. Some of the Presidential presentation firearms made in the late 1880s by Colt Firearms of Hartford, Conn., cost as much as $5,000. The cost of living has risen since then. When a gun has received this kind of treatment it looks like it belongs among the family jewels -- not to be dirtied by shooting at tar-

REGARDLESS OF COST, Carl will not dilute the quality of his work. A $25 job gets the same quality as a $5,000 job. The difference is in the area covered with design. No job leaves his workbench unless he is as satisfied as the customer. As a result, quality is always uniform — excellent.

Western-type six-guns are particularly popular with gun-loving sportsmen throughout the country. A large part of Carl's business comprises work on this type of firearm. Early western settiers carried as necessity a large caliber hogleg-type shooting machine that doubled as a coffee grinder, nail puller or winning poker hand. Normally, this type of gun was as plain as a broom handle, and often the only decoration breaking the manufacturer's design was a well notched wooden grip. Sportsmen are engaged in a feverish race collecting these antiques. Can has engraved more of these than any other type of gun. Once engraved, these guns rarely find their way back to sales counters in gun stores. If they do, they always command premium prices. One Long Beach gun dealer has two of them that have not been offered for sale, even though some tempting offers have been Cooks rarely eat their own stew, and postmen almost never take a walk on Sunday, but Carl does in his playtime what he does in his paytime. He engraves on his own gun. His gun is a Belgian Mauser high-power rifle, and he has been working on it for over a year in his spare time. He has invested a minimum of $500 in the piece, and the end is not yet in sight. The wood which forms the stock cost him more than $40 before any tool other than the saw which cut the log had touched it. Goldplated animals adorn many parts of the gun, including the mounts which support a telescopic hunting sight. He expects to keep the gun for a showpiece, and will shoot it only to prove that it daes shoot.

Carl, only 33, has been engraving for 12 years. He hopes to continue his line of work for another 30 if his eyes and hands hold out, and the demand for the firearm beautiful continues.

What About the Small-Timers?

Y FIRST GLIMPSE of an audience came at the ripe old age of three, when I wiggled across the stage with an Hawaiian trio. My career as a hula dancer ended almost before it began when I discovered, to my embarrassment, I didn't have the hips for it. Then I was teamed with a little boy in an adagio dance, complete with evening gown and tux. A few bumps and many bruises later, it was decided I should be a soloist.

Recently I was asked, "Would you want a child of yours to go into show business?" The thought had never occurred to me, so I couldn't honestly answer it. Not that I'm against giving a youngster training in dancing, singing, or dramatics. On the contrary, I think it helps develop poise, grace of movement, and, most important, self-confidence,

My first confidence came in winning the Hal Roach Amateur Contest in Long Beach. But the best example of confidence I know came that night to a lit-tle girl who was totally blind. She had learned to tap dance by sound, and by the teacher kneeling on the floor and patiently guiding the youngster's feet until she mastered each step. Imagine the confidence and delight of this child as she overcame her handicap and learned dances that many children with sight could not do! Her smile was a thing of beauty as the frail golden-haired child was led across the stage amid the enthusiastic applause, to receive her award. There wasn't a dry eye in the audience-or backstage, either.

IN THOSE DAYS juveniles didn't have the opportunities they do now-but the competition was not as keen. In order to be a top novelty entertainer today, you nearly must stand on your head without hands, and at the same time bound a rubber ball from one foot to the other, while you're shuffling a deck of eards and singing in pear-shaped tones the immortal "Tweedle Dec."

But what of the small-tiplers? You know, the kids that can do a mean time step, a whale of a wing-but who lack that certain magical quality that captivates the movie mogul, and sends him scrambling for his check book and long term contract.

I was brought up in the days of Betty Boop, Mickey Mouse, Our Gang Comedy, and Shirley Temple. It was the desire of almost every mother to make her child as closely resemble Shirley Temple as possible, Consequently, redheads, brownettes, and brunettes alike, all had the short, fat, bouncy, ringlets and the puckered mouth - and all could sing "Animal Crackers In My Soup."

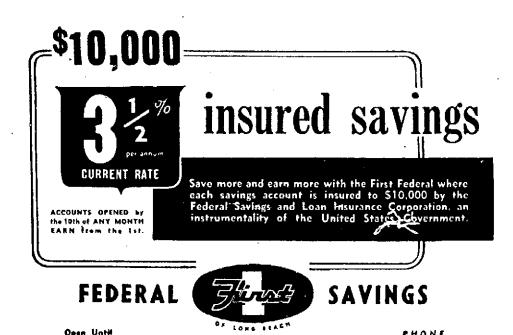

My mother started me at Meglin's because hers was one of the finest organizations afforded the young hopeful. Shirley Temple, Jane Withers, and Peggy Ryan are but a few of the stars who owe their start to Ethel Meg-

In those days, a week's engagement at the Paramount Theater in Los Angeles paid the fabulous salary of $7. That wouldn't have been so bad, had it not been that we lived in Long Beach, and my kind-hearted father rented an apartment close to the Paramount so my mother and I could make the shows without difficulty. Needless to say he sort of went in the hole. It was great fun for me, though. All the kids would meet at Clifton's and eat the sherbet that came out of the "magic" mountain.

AUDITION DAY at Fanchon & Marco's was something you never quite forgot. The children (hundreds of Them) were herded into a gigantic room by their mothers to be dressed. They were made up, curled; poked, pulled, recurled, prompted. until finally, with tap shoes and costumes on, they would stand, stiffly unhappy, until their names were called. Then the notes of the piano introduction would send each little trouper out, a forced smile on his or her face, and a fervent hope of parental retirement in his mother's heart.

Meanwhile, backstage could be heard, "Now, Cecil, don't forget

The Louis Hillises live on Grand Canyon's rim. Nearest neighbors are a mile away, straight down!

Most Isolated U.S. Couple

THE NEAREST NEIGHBORS to the cabin of Louis and Violet Hillis are one mile away — straight down — but they can still lay claim to the title of America's most isolated household.

From October to May the Hillises are the only residents at snowbound Bright Angel Point on the north rim of the Grand Canyon, where it's their job to maintain the lodge and facilities of the Utah Parks Co. To borrow a cup of sugar, Mrs. Hillis has a choice between snowshoeing 44 miles northward to Jacob Lake, Ariz., or taking a long step down the mile-deep chasm to Phantom Ranch on the banks of the Colorado.

The Hillises reside in a log cabin, elevation 8,500 feet, where they read of an evening by gas lantern and cook and keep warm by wood-burning stove. By day they keep warm and happy shoveling snow from rooftops, snowshocing from cabin to cabin to make beds and hand-feeding the rare, white-tailed Kaibab squir-

NEXT MONTH, the Hillises' peaceful routine is ended with the influx of the first of 180 employes and of the estimated 45,-000 vacationists who by summer's end will have viewed awesome Grand Canyon from the north rim.

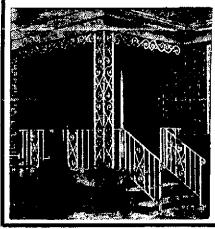

Mrs. Hillis' visitors of the winter were two maintenance men, Doin Boardman and Carl Croft, and photographer Dick Herre from Union Pacific Railroad, of which the Utah Parks Co. is a subsidiary. They made the trip from Jacob Lake through the untranmeled whiteness of Kai-bab National Forest in a Tucker Sno-Cat, a weird-appearing but effective snow vehicle with skis in front and tracks in the rear.

However, for 59-year-old Hillis the visitors were his second contact of the winter. In De-el comes along that one might call a perfect story, perfect of both hand and heart. But "The Mouse That Roared" by Leonard Wibberley (Little, Brown, $3.50) comes close to it. Besides, it is great fun for the reader. Grand Fenwick was ruled by a girl little bigger than the kingdom, but she was as lovely and as tasty as the Pinot Grand Fenwick wine that was the sole import and means of livelihood for the 500-year-old nation that still hore longbows and spears in the grand manner. Peace was wonderful in Grand Fenwick, until the United States encroached upon the Grand Fenwick wine makers, threatening the proud little nation with ruin.

Mouse With a Bomb

Formal protests availed nothing, and at last a state of war was declared between Grand Fenwick and the United States. Even that availed nothing - no American paid any heed to it and Tully Bascomb knelt to his lovely ruler, donned his mail and set out with bowmen to invade the United States of America. That the gallant little band landed in New York during an unfortunate air raid practice alert made it possible for them to escape back aboard the lugger, carrying with them a man who had prepared a new bomb capa-ble of destroying half of the world, and the bomb itself. When asked by the bored skipper of the sailing ship how progressed the war with the United States, the daring Tully Bascomb stated, "We won it."

But this was in direct violation of orders, which had been to lose the war, and then accept the orderly reconstruction of economic resources that always followed the loss of a war to the United States. Just lose a war to America, and you had it made. Instead, there was the most powerful explosive devised by man, placed tenderly and deep in a eastle dungeon. That the posses-sion of the "bomb" frightened all the big nations was an understatement. What would happen now? The reader will find out, and in the finding out he will enjoy himself thoroughly. Too, it is the best answer yet given for the horrible dilemma into which atomic warfare has placed the world .-- GARALD LAGARD.

OUTLAW'S NEMESIS: With a peerless record as a law enforcement officer at Dodge City and other Kansas points behind him, Wyatt Earp had answered the call to Arizona's eactus and silver-rich El Dorado called Tombstone. With him rode Johnny Ringo, a wild young maddog whom he'd helped escape a murder rap in Texas.

Johnny, instead of being grateful, was jealous, jealous of Wyatt's reputation and skill as a gunslinger. So when the marshal began to clean up the nest of Clanton outlaws, Johnny joined the pack of his kind—the Clanton and McLowry brothers, Frank Stillwell, Indian Charlie, Pete Spence, Billy Claiborne and Curly Bill Brocius. To cope with their stage-robbing, cattlethieving, murderous ways, Wyatt sent for his brothers, Morgan and Virgil, and his friend, the deadly Doc Holliday. And even after the history-making battle of the O. K. Corral, there was still Johnny Behan, the crooked sheriff.

Wyatt's fight to make Tombstone a respectable mining town is told by Will Henry in "Who Rides With Wyatt" (Random House, $3). He got his story of guns, raw guts and posse dust from an unidentified old, old man who, as a kid, was there to see it all happen — possibly Johnny Ringo himself. It's great reading and an important contribution to any red-blooded westerner's shelf of Americana.—F. T. K.

A CAPTAIN AT SEA: Richard Gordon, the Britisher who decided to quit doctoring to write, and promptly wrote a best seller called "Doctor in the House," turns to the sea for his latest, "The Captain's Table" (Harcourt, Brace, $3).

The oft-shrinking and muchused eaptain, William Ebbs, comes off a wheezing, sea-battered freighter for his first assignment on a plush liner and the passengers, particularly those assigned by his firm to sit at his table, and a few conniving crewmen, deal him more trouble than any Conrad hero ever had at sea. The dinner and cocktail parties are new to him, of course, and so are designing women, and the situations and dialog run from subtle humor to riotous, ludicous comedy. Every page is superlative entertainment.—

CALL THE DOCTOR!—Peter Rabe (name sounds a lot like a more prolific father) and his primigravida recapture the chuckles of pregnancy in a brief but highly entertaining book, "From Here to Maternity" (Vanguard, $1.95).

Mr. Rabbit — excuse, please — Mr. Rabe illustrates his humorous little epic with sketches; wraps the whole pregnancy period up in a few hundred words. Presumably only the male of the species could tell it all that briefly.

Looks like it was designed for shower and maternity ward gifts, and sounds like a good idea. By the way, what's a primigravida?

METAPHYSICAL: Jessica M. Herbert, widow of Frank Herbert, who from 1939 until 1943 was a member of the Long Beach Harbor Commission, has written "Science of Goodfeeling," a metaphysical volume (Exposition Press, $3). Mrs. Herbert, who has given metaphysical lectures for the last 30 years in Southern California, now lives in Hollywood.

"Not a single cavity in over 2 years"

... thanks to ANTIZYME, the first continuous-action anti-enzyme tooth paste.

Actual, living proof !... this new, completely different kind of tooth paste really stopped decay!

HERE'S WHY... 1. No other type of tooth paste—regular, ammoniated or chlorophyll—protects for more than ½ hour.

Stops the major cause of tooth decay every minute of every day

2. Each Brushing Protects
12-24 Hours! Now, Antizyme, the first continuousaction anti-enzyme tooth paste, stops the major cause of tooth decay 12 to 24 hours with each brushing. This has been proved for 9 out of every 10 people tested.

Reducing Bacteria is NOT the Answer

Dentists have known for years that most tooth decay is started by a kind of chain reaction:

Bacteria (always present in everybody's mouth) produce enzymes that attack sugars and can form the decay acids that cause cavities. No tooth paste can get rid of bacteria in your mouth for more than a few minutes at a time.

Only at the "enzyme" stage has it been proven that you can stop this chain reaction that so often leads to tooth decay:

Ghost Town Gets Shrine

By Helen Smith

THOST TOWN, the little city at Knott's Berry Farm, is taking another and important step in becoming once again a living community.

It is to have a church.

Just as the little red schoolhouse typifies the one lauded in songs, poems and stories, so does the white frame church, dappled with shade from spreading trees and surrounded with green lawn and shrubs, bring back memories for those who remember their village shrine.

Built in 1875 by members of the Downey First Baptist Church, the structure to be added is now known as St. Mark's Episcopal Church whose congregation is to have a new religious plant soon.

For 82 years it has been the scene of weddings and christenings and several generations have worn the wide pine flooring and wooden pews to a satiny lustre.

The church altar is most impressive in its simplicity. The subdued glow of waxed paneling and burnished brass contrast in peaceful harmony with the plain smooth walls.

The problem of moving the structure from 8344 5th St. in Downey to Buena Park is a large one. The route is honeycombed with main traffic arteries and freeways. The steeple will have to be removed and perhaps several other sections also to permit the building to rest safely on the moving dollies.

Fr. Ward F. DeBeck, rector of St. Mark's, says that Walter Knott has agreed to restore the church to its present perfection and regular services will continue to be held.

Soon to join the expanding Ghost Town in Buena Park is an 82-year-old Downey church. Interior is shown above.

New Wrinkle for Polaroid Fans

A REVOLUTIONARY advance in photography will shortly be available to the public. To the magic of picture-in-a-minute photography, a new miracle will be possible; the ability to produce a permanent film negative along with the print. It will be made possible when a new, fast, fine-quality panchromatic film, whose negative emulsion is coated on an acetate film base, is introduced.

Credit for the research and development of the new film goes to the Polaroid Corp.

But the immediate discoverer of a simple technique whereby, for the first time, a permanent regative can be produced along with a quick print, was an individual photo enthusiast. John Wolbarst, managing editor of Modern Photography magazine, in testing the new Polaroid Professional Pan film, had a logical brainstorm.

What would happen if he tried to fix the new negative after he had taken a picture? He experimented.

He didn't want it to be spoiled by light, which is the usual procedure, so he worked in a completely dark room. The film had a paper edging, so it had to be removed carefully. The film had a coating of developing jelly so he removed it by immersing in a pan of water and swabbing it off gently, with his fingers. Then he put it in fresh fixer. When he put on the light after 20 seconds, the film was reacting like normal film. In a couple of minutes it was completely clear. Two more minutes for complete fixation, then 20 minutes of careful washing, a dunk in Photo-Flo and the film was hung to dry.

That film turned out to be a normal negative, capable of producing prints and enlargements in the usual manner. It wasn't a happy, single accident because Wolbarst tried it again and again with the same successful results.

Polaroid soon introduces the remarkable film which can produce permanent negatives. It also has an ASA rating of 200 but its negative emulsion is coated on an acetate film base.

Furthermore, a discarded film was taken from the wastebasket. It had been exposed to the ordinary room light for some moments.

It was put through the same process under an amber safelight from then on.

Under those conditions which would have turned a normal negative completely black, the negative was salvaged and passable enlargement was made from it!

A NEW 16-mm. roll-film camera, the Cino-Kodak K-100, just announced by the Eastman Kodak Co. includes features of interest to amateur movie enthusiasts.

The new camera features a pre-stressed spring power motor that exposes up to 40 feet of film at a single winding, a shutter release at the rear of the camera, a full size one-for-one telescopic viewfinder and a large, accurate speed-control governor. It is believed to be particularly well adapted to the needs of home movie makers who want a high-quality 16-mm. outfit at a lower price than the professional type 16-mm. cameras currently available.

NEY KEYSTONE 8-mm home movie projectors said to give screen images 78 per cent larger than ordinarily available are now in stock at Long Beach franchised dealers.

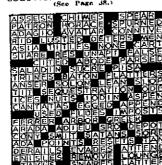

Keystone Magna-Scope projectors, say company officials, produce a screen image that will practically fill a 30x40-inch screen at a distance of 12 feet. It incorporates six features for better home movies, and the Magna-Scope lens comes as standard equipment making the model the only 8-mm. projector with big image lens as standard equipment. In addition, the projector has a built-in film splicer, a room light switch that turns off room lights as the projector is turned on, a built-in viewer for picture editing, and a forward and reverse-geared film wind which permits the operator to repeat or reverse the action of a reel being projected. It also incorporates a 750-watt lamp in a new optical and reflector system which gives intense illumination over the entire larger screen area. The Model K-109M retails at $167.50 complete with case. Another model, the K-95M, costs $127.95 complete with case.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will have a black and white print competition at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

LONG BEACH CINEMA CLUB will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Houghton Park Clubbouse.

Lewis Underwood, president, amounces a contest with a new twist. Usually a film is shot and then suitable music is set to it, but this "Film to Fit a Record" contest works in reverse; the record is chosen, then film fitted to it. as an excellent pal for the sportsman. All these qualities are enough to ask of any dog. It has recently come to light, however, that the Labrador is a more forthright breed than hitherto realized and that he takes easily to regimentation. The London police have found that this large, smooth-coated dog of unknown origin maintains a record there of excellence in police duty. And Bill Johns of the San Rafael guide dog organizations here on the west coast has used many Labradors as guide dogs for the blind with fine success.

Still more interest has been focused on the Labrador's ability to serve as a guide dog since the story came out last December of the little 3-year-old Council Bluffs, Iowa, boy, Gene Walker, who did not learn to walk again following an attack of polio until he one day crawled up to a Labrador named Suzie. grasped her fur, hauled himself erect, and falteringly took a few steps, using the dog as a balance. The boy's recovery, although not yet complete though he has tossed aside his braces, pays tribute to this great and patient dog who still serves his young friend. Undoubtedly, the Lab-rador retriever will find his way into other homes where there have been small children stricken with polio.

The Labrador is on a par with the German shepherd and the Doberman as a top police guard. And of course nearly everyone knows of the fine guide work of the German shepherd.

THE LABRADOR retriever, as his name would suggest, does not come from Labrador, but from Newfoundland. He was brought to England first by fishermen, then by deliberate iniportation. No dog could surpass him in finding wounded game, none had a better coat for shedding water, none had a tail so near like that of an otter -- and the sports-loving Englishmen were delighted with him.

Some interbreeding with other types of retrievers did occur as time went on, but fortunately the third Earl of Malmesbury (1887) had retained his dog as purely as he could, so the Labrador characteristics predominat-

The Labrador has an intense desire to please his owner or handler, a trait that makes him a joy with which to work. He is generally a black dog with no rustiness and no white coloring except frequently a small white spot on his chest. Other whole colors are permissible, blond being fairly common. He is strongly built and very active.

THE UNBENCHED SHOW and obedience trial of the San Galgriel Valley Kennel Club will take place Sunday, April 24, at City Park, Azusa, hours 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Remember, only dogs entered in AKC shows are permitted on show premises.

 $\mathbf{DO}$   $\mathbf{NOT}$   $\mathbf{ADD}$  several new plants at one time to an aquarlum, for if even one dies unnoticed, its deterioration will cause gases and will remove oxygen from the water, and many fish may die. Add one plant at a time and watch to see that it becomes established.

EXCESSIVE SHEDDING of the dog's coat is caused by too much bathing, an oversupply of carbohydrates (sugar and starch) in the diet, or too high indoor temperatures.

FRIED MEAT is not for dogs. It causes gas, constipation and other upsets. Spiced and salted meats are also inadvisable.

TWO DOGS of like sex very often take a dislike for each other. If you want two dogs, it is best to get a male and a female. Even in professional kennels, as a rule, like sexes are not placed in the same pen. There is no other help for this situation.

DON'T GET A DOG if you cannot give him a fenced yard in which to play safely. Keeping a dog chained is cruel and usually causes him to bark at everything and everyone for amusement, and he soon becomes worthless as a watchdog.

3. DADO METHOD for butt joints gives you maximum strength against sheer stress (up and down). Fasten it with screws through the face or with angled nails. Drive them from the bottom, and they won't show. Glue alone gives a good joint.

2. TOENAILING, stronger than you think, is used mostly in heavy lumber, but it's good also with light stock, leaving face unmarred. Let nails on one side force stock out of line; back-nailing returns piece to position.

4. MORTISE AND TENON (top) is classic joint for strength and good looks in furniture. Lapped dado (bottom) is simpler if joint shows from one side only. Glue and clamp these joints, and you'll find them strong with no other fasten-er. Time spent working up joints like these is time saved when you assemble, and the big payoff is in final strength and good looks. As a good handyman, you'll soon form the habit of using the best joint

GARDENS

Cool, Shady? Try Cineraria

By Walter Finch

MENTION a cool shady garden and thoughts of Cineraria come to mind. According to the California Bedding Plant Advisory Board, Cinerarias rank first for shade garden planting in California. They are such a nat-ural subject for this purpose, it is little wonder that the standard recommendation for the north side of buildings, walls and fences and the problem spots that exist under trees and overhanging masses of shrubbery is to plant a flat of Cinerarias.

Cinerarias are deceptively sturdy. Fragile in appearance, once well established, they are able to overcome freezes that will kill off all top growth, inadvertent chopping that cuts off practically all their root struc-ture and periods of drought that will overcome many of their sturdier looking plant cousins. Of course, they do not thrive on such abuse, but rather will respond generously to good care, which means—a shade location, a soil prepared with 1/2 to 1/4 of good organic humus, a monthly feeding with an acid liquid fertilizer, little or no cultivation, generous amounts of water and control of slugs, snails, ants, aphids, white fly, red spider and leaf miner.

Cinerarias as a garden subject are unknown to many California newcomers who have seen them used only as florist pot plants with a comparatively high price While Cinerarias make excellent pot plants for a cool room, they are even more useful as a garden plant. Single plants will fill out a full square foot of bed space and a single flat will handle most of the shade garden bedding plant requirements for the average small home. By selecting a few of the sturdier plants in a flat it is possible to grow potted cinerarias in the open garden. Plants should be first set into 3" pots and plunged into the soil. When roothound they should be stepped up to 4" pots and later into 5" and even 6" pots. The larger sized pots should only be set part way into the soil and the potting mixture should be at least one-half humus to insure a light mixture and good drainage. No special care is required and the results are rewarding.

Orchids, like those surrounding Starr Chappell, above, may be grown in the home along with other house plants.

RCHID PLANTS are the glamorous new addition to the house plant collection. Cattleya orchid plants that produce florist's quality blooms with no more care than the more common house plants are now successfully grown in the homes of hundreds of Home Orchid Club members in every part of the United States.

Many of the old myths and misconceptions about orchid

Violet Show

The sixth annual show of the Long Beach African Violet Socicty will be held in Norway Hall, 7th St. and Redondo Ave., from 4 to 10 p. m. April 29 and 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. April 30. Many innovations are planned, including a display, for the first time in the west, of the new double pink African violets.

raising are rapidly disappearing as the green-thumbs of successful house plant growers turn to the simple new rules for orchid growing in the home.

The rules are different, but not difficult. The Cattleya orchid is an epiphyte, which means "air-loving." Its roots are intended Its roots are intended to be exposed to the air, instead of buried in soil in a pot. The Cattleya orchid is therefore potted in a porous, "open" material called osmundine that permits air circulation through the pot. Watering is different, too, since the way of nature in the jungle is to soak the roots with a heavy shower, then dry the roots in the breeze that follows. In our homes we soak the osmundine, but allow the roots to become dry before soaking again. practiced "heft" of the pot sig-nals when the pot is "light" and needs soaking again.

mist-spray. Like the jungle shower, this gives them a pe-riod of 100 per cent humidity and a fresh start for a hardworking day of making and storing energy for fast growth at night. Then the pot is placed over a dish of water that evaporates during the day to create

to meet virtually all the various conditions found in every lawn.

You get sun-loving grasses, including famous Merion Bluegrass, to keep the lawn green in hot weather... fine-leaved fescues that thrive in deep shade... bentgrasses for beauty and exquisite texture... still other grasses with root structures that cling to slopes. Wherever you plant Golf Brand, the particular grasses best suited for the conditions take over... and flourish!

What's more some grasses are always at

What's more, some grasses are always at their growing peak, to give you a rich green lawn all season long.

Grow a lawn so thick it crowds out weeds

The sooner you plant Golf Brand, the sooner you can enjoy a thick velvety turf, a carpet-like lawn of lasting beauty! Golf Brand is a blend of 11 perennial grasses fungicide-treated to insure high germination. These are grasses famous for their beauty and long life. Given the initial care it deserves, a Golf Brand lawn will grow ever thicker. By the end of the first year, and particularly during the second year, your Golf Brand lawn grows so thick it actually crowds out weeds!

For a perfect lawn-seed, feed, weed the Golf Brand way

1. SEED. In buying lawn seed, you get exactly what you pay for. Even at their peak of growth, cheap ryegrass mixtures can never give you a permanent, thick luxurious turf. But when you plant Golf Brand, you start a permanent lawn. A lawn that, with proper care, will grow more beautiful each year.

2. FERTILIZER. Regular feeding is a "must" for a perfect lawn. See column at left, for facts about Golf Brand Lawnfood.

3. WEED CONTROL Kill weeds and crabgrass as deadly as watering your lawn. See column at left for details on Golf Brand Weed Control program.

Hints on How to Sow a Garden

By John Ronson

THEN SOWING seeds directly in the garden, the amateur should keep in mind two points — how deep to sow, and how far apart. Modern practice favors shallow sowing, the depth being determined by the size in most cases. Small seeds are barely covered, and larger seeds placed at a depth about four times their diameter.

How far apart is not so easy to determine. If sown too thinly, the hazards of garden life may cause vacant spaces to be left in the row. If sown too thickly there will be extra work thinning out plants, so those which remain have room to de-

Larger seeds, like peas and beans, can be accurately spaced. Dwarf peas one inch apart will develop sturdy plants without thinning, and if some seeds fail to grow they will not be missed. Bush beans usually are allowed to grow four inches apart in the To avoid vacant spaces sow beans in pairs, spaced four inches apart. Seldom will both seeds in a pair fail to grow. If both grow one can easily be nulled up, or let both develop since twin plants will do as well as singles.

Beet seed and Swiss chard are large enough to be spaced precisely, and may be planted an inch or two apart, and thinned out. Every beet seed will produce a group of plants. If you thin them just as the root is beginning to take its globular form, the tops and tiny roots cooked together will make a delicious dish.

AVOID SOWING any seeds so thickly that they touch each other. Their roots will entangle, and it will be difficult to thin them properly. It may help to mix small seeds with dry sand, the outside wall. At one end of the kitchen is the dinette area furnished with a handsome round marble top table and contemporary chairs.

The house originally had three bedrooms. Needing only one, the decision was unanimous to remove the non-load-bearing wall that divided the second and third bedrooms - transforming the two into one spacious, television-equipped den. This multi-purpose room is furnished with a wealth of open bookcases and closed storage units of ash. There is a large and handsome desk of black lacquered ash that serves both men when they have work to complete at home. A bulletin board as wide as the desk has been covered in black felt and mounted on the wall.

Sand shantung cafe curtains cover the lower half of the floorto-ceiling windows that overlook the ingeniously landscaped back garden. Bamboo shades may be raised or lowered over the upper portion of the windows. dining table stands before the windows.

Sow large seeds in pairs (left), there will be few vacant spaces. Plant peas inch apart, do not thin out (right).

before you begin to sow, using two or three times as much sand as seeds. This spreads the seed out better.

If seed is of substandard germination, or known to be old, sow twice as much. Carrot seedlings are feeble, and often have difficulty breaking through the soil if it is at all inclined to crust. Use twice as much carrot seed if you have doubts about your soil being porous enough.

The surest way to sow small seeds is to take a few in the sand, and let them fall through the fingers into the drill which has been prepared. .Get close to the ground, and with a little practice you can quickly acquire control so that the seeds will be evenly distributed, each sufficiently distant from the next to prevent entanglement,

Keep the seeds in line as well as you can. It helps to let the garden line which was used in making the drill remain in place until the seeds have been dropped.

Typs on Jardening

GADENING TIPS for the week . . . Ferns are often overlooked in favor of more exciting plants. Yet the cool green leaves can do a lot to add a quiet tone to your garden. Further, a fern garden can be most attractive. Ferns blend beautifully with eamellias, azaleas, fuchsias begonias. They seem to do best in a shady corner.

When planting camellias do not set the roots too deeply. They are really surface roots and if covered with too much soil may suffer a setback. Also keep in mind that the root area for camellias must be kept on the damp side.

If you have the space plant a few avocados. Fuerte, Ryan and Hass are good varieties.

Drawing of Royal Carpet sweet alyssum shows how watering deeply pulls roots down, secret of good culture.

You Make It

This contraption is the result of time wasted in countless trips to the tool house for some special tool. It is strictly a utility step-saver. Now, when the daily gardening chores are begun, everything needed may be taken The widget above the handle is a kneeling sled to prevent bad colds from contact with the soil. It holds seeds, bulbs, trowels and things, too. Gar-deners may find uses for this Garproject even the designers have not thought of. The 25-cent pattern tells everything with pictures of how-to-do. Or you can get Pattern 423 in the packet of five standard size patterns for making various garden helpers for only $1, postpaid. 5701 ORANGE AVE.

America winner, "Royal Carpet," and its white companion, "Carpet of Snow," seed packet gardeners are using this fragrant little plant in ways she wouldn't have dared with grandmother's sprawly garden pest. The modern alyssums know their place, and keep it too, with a minimum of self-seeding and a solid blanket of color all summer long.

As a ground cover, for example, royal carpet is ideal between the sidewalk and the curb. A row of dwarf plants such as carpet of snow, or ball-shaped ones such as little gem, make a neat and trouble-free edging along the front walk, but in this case he sure to keep your plants as close as 4 inches from each other so that they will grow together into a ribbon of white.

All of the alyssums grow very well indeed from seeds sown directly in the ground outdoors and the annual ones will take a nip of frost although it turns the edges of the leaves purple and slows down plant growth. If the weather is warm (with 60 degree nights and 85 degree days) the seeds can be broadcast from a large salt shaker as they will sprout and grow faster than the weeds. In cooler weather it is wiser to sow in rows so you can keep track of the weeds. Even though the alyssums flower well all through the hot summer, the purple ones especially look their best earlier when the intense color is brilliantly in contrast with the bright green of lawns and foliage.

PLENTY OF WATER, 'way down deep under the plant, is the secret of strong plants that will carry through vacation times in summer. Pull the roots down by soaking the soil thoroughly and you'll use less water in the long run.

There are basically three kinds The tall sweet alyssums: spreading ones generally known as Maritimum or just plain "sweet," the ball-shaped types like "Violet Queen" and "Little Gem," and the flat ones called Royal Carpet or Carpet of Snow. Of the three, Maritimum is seldom seen nowadays since its "sons and grandsons" had an irrepressible urge to travel all the garden! Of course, there is also the perennial form called saxatile or "Basket of Gold" which is tall, but has a golden yellow color heavily produced in April and May when the tulips are in bloom. It is perfeetly hardy, and will bloom at a 12 inch height the first year and about 18 inches the next.

Ofield's daughter, Sally (right), follows mother's in living room lesson. She'd like to drive taxi! steps in living room lesson.

(Continued from Page 26.) to smile at the director," or "Now, Lana Lee, you pucker your mouth like Mama taught you, and don't forget to roll your. eyes-and, oh, yes. pulceze, for heaven's sake, remember your out-back-down, stamp, stamp,"

The few who survived this became extras-the children seen in a lineup at an exclusive girls' school, a mob scene in a Dead End Kids' picture, or as in my case—one of a group of tough unruly kids in a church choir, from the wrong side of the tracks. The scene was a rundown church in a Universal pic-ture called "The Underpup." It starred Gloria Jean, who was making her debut. We made recordings first, and later mouthed in the words. The part I enjoyed most was when director Charles Previn, told us that we were supposed to crawl over the church railing in our anxiety to leave the church. Boy! Could I crawl!

The rehearsals that preceded one of the big Paramount, Orpheum or Shrine Auditorium shows were rigorous, to put it mildly. The choreographers demanded perfection-and before the summer was out, they got it.

BETWEEN NUMBERS the kids played a brand new game called Pick-up-stix, and if the competition was too tough and tempers grew short, an occa-sional—"My mother said she didn't know why your mother didn't give up. You have no talent!" could be heard. The child extra is not as deadly as the adult, but don't let his size mislead you. What he lacks in stature, his doting mama makes up for in driving ambition for her offspring.

Now don't get me wrong. Not all mothers were slave drivers. Fortunately, my mother wasn't the aggressive type. She was in fact, just the opposite. Besides, she only weighed 98 pounds. She wouldn't have stood a chance.

I was still puzzling over the question of whether or not I'd want Sally in show business the other day when I noticed her sprawled on her stomach before the television set.

"Sally, what do you want to be when you grow up?" I asked suddenly.

She looked at me with 6-yearold seriousness, pursed her lips and then answered without besitation, "I either want to drive a taxi, or work for the telephone company."

HANK MOFFETT

Sure, We've Got Sorghum

IN THESE DAYS of $6,000 automobiles, $1 cigars and $20 shoes, it is rather comforting to know there's still a place in town where you can get a complete steak dinner for just 90 cents.

This inexpensive meal is served at the Chicken Pie Shop, Seven 3 Seven Pine Ave., which has won fame far and wide as the home of the 75-cent chicken pie dinner.

The pie shop's steak dinner is equally excellent. It includes a generous serving of cube steak, with assorted sauces; cole slaw, mashed potatoes with gravy, fresh hot biscuits with butter and honey and choice of beverage. The patron also has his choice of three desserts — Jello, rice pudding or a tasty, homemade apple cobbler.

How can the ple shop put out a steak dinner for such a remarkably low price?

"Volume's the answer," says Hank Moffett, who is the righthand man of his brother, Al, owner of the pie shop. "We owner of the pie shop. make a profit by selling hun-dreds of steak dinners a week."

THE PIE SHOP also serves ham dinners and chicken and noodle dinners. All are complete from cole slaw to dessert.

The shop's take-home delicatessen department is currently featuring a special shipment of sorghum molasses from Arkan-Available in different sized containers, this molasses finds a ready market among folks from the south (and others, too), who pour it on hot cakes, waffles, mush and beans. It's also dandy for making candy.

Incidentally, the shop's service is still mercurial - patrons receiving their dinner orders within three to five minutes.

The shop is open daily and Sunday from 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. TEDD THOMEX CAPATERIAL

What every busband should know...

and every wife will appreciate!

Let's face it! No matter how much your wife loves you it's no cinch to plan and prepare three meals a day—keep the house neat and clean—and then at least once a week have the family wash to do.

What we are going to suggest isn't the whole answer by any means. But—it will help a lot when it comes to that wash...

Get ber some White King D. It's the new "double duty" detergent with "balanced" power! She will not only love you for thinking of it—and of her—but she will find dozens of uses where it will help in the endless and sometimes monotonous job of keeping house. We don't claim it will make an unhappy home happy. But we do say it will make a happy home happier because it makes the work so much easier.
